FROM FRANCE.

OFFICIAL FROM THE ARMY—THE BATTLE ON THE 16TH.

PARIS, August 19.—The following has been made public:

"General Headquarters, August 18—5 P. M.—In the encounter of the 16th inst. the corps of General L'Admirault formed the extreme right of the army. A battalion of the Seventy-third regiment of the line destroyed a Prussian regiment of Lancers and took its colors. There have been many brilliant cavalry charges, in one of which Gen. Le Grand was killed at the head of his division. General Montagu is missing. The Prussian Generals Doenig and Wedel were killed and Generals Grounter and Ruck were wounded. Prince Albert, commanding the Prussian cavalry, was killed. The following morning we were masters of the position previously occupied by the enemy. On the morning of the 17th several combats with our rear guard took place near Gravelotte. The force of the enemy in the battle of the 16th inst. may be approximated at 180,000. We have not yet the exact figures of our losses."

NINETEEN PRUSSIAN SPIES SHOT.

PARIS, August 19.—The journals this morning say that nineteen Prussian spies have lately been arrested, and after trial and condemnation by a council of war they were shot. Among those shot were five officers of the enemy.

THE PRUSSIANS AGAIN ASK AND ARE REFUSED AN ARMISTICE TO BURY DEAD.

PARIS, August 19.—The Prussians sent a flag of truce, demanding an armistice for the purpose of burying the dead. They admitted a loss of eight thousand killed. The armistice was refused. In this battle [what one?] the First corps of Prussians was commanded by General Manteuffel and the Seventh corps by Count Zastrow. They had 54,000 infantry, 31,000 cavalry and ninety-six guns.

IN THE FRENCH CHAMBERS—WAR NEWS—BISMARCK'S REGIMENT DESTROYED.

In the Corps Legislatif last evening, Count De Palikao, Minister of War, took the floor, and in response to an inquiry, made an explanation relative to the fact of General Trochu being declared Governor of Paris. The Government regarded it as a wise movement, he said, to confide the defense of the city of Paris to a person eminently qualified to increase the feeling of security in the minds of the citizens. Count De Palikao then informed the Corps Legislatif that it was certain the Prussians had suffered severely in the late engagements; that their center had been especially crippled; that they had tried to retreat to St. Michael, but were able to effect a junction with the Prince Royal. The entire regiment of white cuirassiers, under the command of Count Von Bismarck, was totally destroyed. Near Schlettstadt the French peasants attacked a detachment of Prussian dragoons and made them prisoners. The Count then dwelt upon the fact that dispatches from Prussian sources made no mention of these victories. The remarks of the Minister were received enthusiastically by the Deputies.

EXCITEMENT AND ENTHUSIASM OVER FRENCH SUCCESS.

PARIS, August 19.—There is intense excitement and enthusiasm at the news of repeated French victories. The streets are full of processions and crowds of people roaring the "Marseillaise." Notwithstanding the great excitement there has been no disorder.

PARIS, August 19.—Edmund About continues his description of the retreat of McMahon's corps, in a letter from Saverne, dated Monday, August 8, as follows:

Yesterday (Sunday, August 7th) at six o'clock—upon I know not what false alarm, perhaps only because three or four scouts of the enemy were announced on the side of Steinburg—the Duke de Magenta caused the "general" to be beaten and Saverne thought itself lost. Whilst officers and soldiers threw themselves pell-mell upon the Pfalsburg road, three-fourths of the people went half wildly toward the neighboring forests. A sad example was set by the gens d'armes and sergeants de ville. The town's folk closed their shops and piled up furniture upon carts. Some farmers drove their cattle before them, as in the time of Abraham. There were incredible accumulations formed, both of men and animals, in houses of foresters and in ruins of old castles. This morning all is calm in town—or to speak more accurately, all is dead there. Invasion is expected from one moment to another, and no one dreams of defense against the 150,000 men of the Prince Royal. The Mayor invites all bakers and butchers to reopen their shops. A few devoted men and and some Franc women divide themselves between two ambulances. There remain only sixty wounded or so. One hundred and sixty have been sent on to Saarbruck. Almost all the Zouaves and Turcos made their escape last night, fearing to be murdered by the Prussians. How they have been able to drag themselves as far as Pfalzburg, being in such a state as they were in, I scarcely know. They must have stolen horses and carriages. Mine was recovered this morning at six o'clock, perfectly sound, from half a dozen stragglers, who had replaced the traces with turbans unravelled.

A DECREE BY THE EMPRESS.

PARIS, August 19.—The Journal Officiel publishes the following as having been approved by the Empress:

"The ports of Cherbourg, Brest, Lorient, Rochefort and Toulon having been declared in a state of siege, if the letter of the provisions of the decree of October 13, 1863, were to be strictly followed, the powers entrusted to the military authorities, by virtue of the state of siege, should devolve on the Generals commanding the territorial divisions within the limits in which are found these five ports. As these powers are not entrusted to any maritime authority, by the terms of the 28th article, except in case of an unforseen attack, the present circumstances, and the general interest in the defence of the country, demand the abolition of said article.

"Therefore, after having a consultation with the Minister of Marine, I have the honor to propose to Your Majesty to decree that Maritime Prefects be invested with the extraordinary title of superior commanders of all troops stationed within those five military ports. "PALIKAO."

THE EMPRESS PROVIDING FOR THE WOUNDED—THE DEFENSES OF PARIS—ENORMOUS STORES OF PROVISIONS—SUBSTANTIAL PATRIOTISM.

PARIS, August 19.—The Empress takes part in the movement in favor of the wounded. She has ordered her apartments at Compeigne to be prepared for the purpose, and has decided upon trying the system, inaugurated in America during the civil war, of caring for the wounded in tents, where plenty of fresh air can be obtained.

It is said on good authority that the Minister of Finance will opon a national loan on Monday.

A council of Ministers was held to-day.

The Constitutionnel to-day publishes an article stating Paris is now the strong hold. The armed force is very great. The admiralty has equipped the forts, which have been armed completely. Enormous quantities of provisions are stowed in the city and much more arriving daily. Mills have been erected here capable of furnishing more flour than the resident population could use. Some of the heaviest dealers in grain have engaged to furnish all needed without reference to price, leaving that altogether to the Government. The journals compliment such evidence of patriotism.

DIRECT FROM PARIS—PRESS DISPATCHES TO AMERICA FORWARDED TO PRUSSIAN HEADQUARTERS—A VIEW OF THE SITUATION.

NEW YORK, August 14.—M. Gaillardet telegraphs from Paris to the Courier des Etats Unis of this morning: In an interview with M. Chevreau, Minister of the Interior, he complains that the dispatches which, by special favor, I have been permitted to send to New York have been transmitted back to Prussia, to the detriment of our operations. He further assured me that the Chief of the Berlin Police had perfected arrangements for receiving, the very moment they were published, dispatches sent from France to Luxembourg, Belgium, Switzerland and America, which dispatches he immediately forwarded to Prussian headquarters. These dispatches have made the enemy acquainted with the projected movements on our part, and informed them as regards the strength of our forces at certain points. It consequently follows that Bazaine feels compelled to interdict the publishing of all army news, except such as emanates from his headquarters. He (the Minister of the Interior) will furnish such dispatches as are suitable. The Minister added, that Bazaine had said he feared the telegraphic indiscretions which had made known the strategetical movement to the enemy less than the demoralizing effect produced upon the people, by making known to their families the names of the killed in the battles. Though our army has suffered severely, the concentration upon Chalons is being accomplished. If nothing unexpected occurs, our forces will be there in a few days.

There is very much confusion in the dispatches from the army. While advantages are announced as having been gained at various points, no mention is made of a decided victory having been achieved over the enemy. Manifestly Bazaine is attempting to stave off battle until upon reaching Chalons, should he can be joined by reinforcements. I infer from the dispatches that our forces are retreating in three columns—that as one is attacked the others go to its assistance, and having repulsed the enemy then move on again. Five battles have been fought since the 14th, and five times we have repulsed the enemy. The advantages we gained over the foe at Gravellotte, Mars la Tour and Doncourt, recall the glories of the French campaign of 1814. Frossard and Bataille are wounded, the latter grevieusly. The armies of Frederick Charles and Von Steinmetz have been decimated, but reinforcements for them are constantly arriving.

MacMahon, with part of his advance guard, has arrived at Vitry le Francais. Two divisions have been dispatched to protect his retreat to Chalons. We securely hold Strasbourg, Pfalsbourg and Thionville.

After organizing the forces at Chalons, Gen. Trochu has been appointed commander of the forces and fortifications in and about Paris. He arrived this morning and immediately issued a proclamation urging the people to lay aside their political differences and unite in the defense. His arrival was opportune. It has occasioned confidence and restrains the revolutionists. Our modern Carnot is now the most popular man in France, without exception.

CONFIDENCE IN PARIS RESTORED—WHY THE LONDON JOURNALS DENOUNCE NAPOLEON.

[Special Cable to N. Y. Times.]

PARIS August 18.—The nomination of General Trochu to be military Governor of Paris, and the recall of the Garde Mobile to the capital, inspires great confidence among the people, proving that the army of Paris is able to repel any attack of the enemy, and rendering it certain that Paris will be well defended. Fighting is still going on, but Marshal Bazaine will send no report until the result is certain. There is no confirmation of the rumor that Prince Frederick Charles was wounded.

I have just heard from a good source what is the original cause of the hostility of the London Times to the Emperor, and the sudden wheel around of the London Daily Telegraph in the same direction. Lady Waldgrave, of Strawberry Hill, a great friend of the Orleans family, is dining and winning the London journalists with a view to make partisans. Delane, of the London Times, dines there three times a week, and has been the more easily won over by her ladyship from the fact that he lost £30,000 in the time of the Hohenzollern affair by stock speculations for a rise, on the faith of the announcement of the settlement of the war question by Ollivier's organ, Le Constitutionnel. Among the recent conquests of the siren of Strawberry Hill are Monsieur and Madame Lesq, of the Telegraph. They honored the invitation of her ladyship and the allegiance of that journal was secured.

The declarations of the Minister of War in the Chamber this afternoon created great exultation. Fortune at last seems to smile on French arms.

THE VILLETTE RIOTERS.

PARIS, August 19.—The council of war will not meet until Saturday. The civil magistrates have examined the rioters of Boulevard Villette and sent those against whom prima facie evidence of guilt was adduced to prison to await trial before a military court.

MORE SPIES ARRESTED.

There were additional arrests of Prussian spies yesterday.

THE TUILERIES GARDENS A HOSPITAL.

The private gardens of the Tuileries have been turned into an out-door military hospital, under the superintendence of Dr. Nelaton.

GARDE MOBILE SWARMING INTO PARIS.

Members of the Garde Mobile arrive here from the provinces daily by thousands. They are fine men and need only a few days' drilling to make good soldiers.

A TRULY GREAT COMMANDER.

The Gaulois says: We now affirm that we have a great General at the head of our armies. The greatest proof is his calmness in the hour of victory. He awaits sure results before he telegraphs his successes. For whole days he has resisted the temptation to announce good news until nothing could compromise the hopes he might raise.

THE BANK OF FRANCE—RUSH FOR SPECIE.

Great crowds collect daily around the doors of the Bank of France to obtain specie for bills. Brokers charge a premium of 10 per cent for coin. The Patrie defends the officers of the Bank from the charge of negligence in not preparing to meet the demand for small bills, and promises an enormous quantity will be ready in a few days.

MOVEMENTS OF THE EMPEROR.

The Figaro makes the following report of the movements of the Emperor: On Tuesday, 16th, the Emperor, who had not yet heard of the battle of that day, received the Mayor and Sub-Prefect of Verdun and spoke encouragingly to them. He was then accompanied by the Prince Imperial, but was almost without escort. He went to the railway station and demanded a train. The officers of the road could only furnish a third-class car, and the Emperor assured them he was satisfied with that. The Prince Imperial seemed greatly fatigued. A locomotive preceded the train to see the road clear. The next morning at daylight the Emperor reached Chalons.

TACTICS OF THE PRUSSIANS.

While at Metz the Emperor issued the following order, which was printed and distributed among the officers.

"The Prussians commence an action by putting forward a small force, but placing heavy batteries behind them in a good position. They then form a line of sharpshooters, who, under cover of woods, keep up a constant fire and gradually gain the flank of their enemy. When the sharpshooters are well engaged, the Prussians put forward strong bodies of troops, who try to approach as near the hostile lines as possible unseen."

Having given these details, the Emperor concludes by directing the officers to imitate the tactics of the enemy.

THINK STRANGE OF IT.

The journals comment upon the fact announced by the Austrian press to-day that the Pope has been complimenting the King of Prussia on the success of his army.

THE EXPELLED GERMANS.

The Germans of the Northern States of the Confederation who have been expelled from France will go to Belgium, and those of the Southern States to Switzerland. The Federal council of the latter country has ordered that German speaking commissaries shall be stationed at Geneva, Verriers and Neufchatel, in order to assist Germans arriving there without means. The Government of the German States promises to refund to Switzerland all the expenses incurred in the relief of refugees. Germans who can procure French citizens as sureties are permitted to leave their wives and children in France.

PARIS QUIET AND ORDERLY.

PARIS, August 19, afternoon.—It is noticeable that crowds of excited people no longer surround the hall of the Corps Legislatif, and the ordinary quiet of the city is fully restored. The intense popular interest is apparently subsiding, and there is much less fear of excesses. The conduct of the people along the Boulevard Villette continues good. They aided the police against the rioters of Monday, making many arrests themselves.

Prince D'Auvergne has taken possession of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

The organization of corps of sharpshooters is becoming very numerous and will do good service.

Prince Napoleon sent his family to Prangins and his property to Switzerland. The Prince himself is with the army at Chalons.

TROOPS FROM ALGIERS.

The Constitutionnel says native chiefs of Algeria are raising twenty thousand cavalry for the French army, which will soon be ready to start at a moment's notice. Over thirty thousand Algerian volunteers are also demanded leave to serve with the army of France.

EMPEROR AND EMPRESS IGNORED.

PARIS, July 19.—The Gaulois says that Pinard, ex-Minister of the Interior, was with difficulty dissuaded from interpellating the Chambers on the proclamation of General Trochu to the Parisians, because the Emperor and Empress were not mentioned in the document.

HANOVER LEGION FOR FRANCE.

Baron Malortee, a Hanoverian, has addressed an appeal to the Hanoverians in France to form a legion of sharp-shooters. He says he is not against Germany, but Prussian tyranny, and that his wish is to combat the Hohenzollerns, who tried to efface from the map of Europe the name of Hanover. Malortee is said to be a nephew of Bismarck.

Rentes are quoted at 63f. 70c.

General Trochu held a meeting this morning with officers who are to take part in the defence of Paris, at which all necessary measures were adopted. General Trochu has his headquarters at Elysee.

The Liberte says orders have been given to cut down Bois de Boulogne and Vincennes, and adds "the population of Paris need not be alarmed, as this is merely a necessary preliminary."

MARSHAL BAZAINE'S ACCOUNT OF WEDNESDAY'S BATTLE.

PARIS, August 19.—The following official dispatch from Marshal Bazaine has been made public:

Verdun, August 17—8 P. M.—This (Wednesday) morning the army of Prince Frederick Charles commenced a sharp attack on the right of our position. The cavalry division of General Porteu, and the Second Corps, under General Frossard, made a firm resistance. The divisions of another corps, which were in echelon to the right and left of Rezonville, came up successively and went into the action, which lasted until nightfall. The enemy deployed in considerable force and made repeated efforts to resume the offensive, which were vigorously repulsed. A fresh corps d'armee endeavored to turn our left. We have everywhere held our positions and have inflicted heavy losses on the enemy. Our loss is serious. Gen. Battaille was wounded in the heat of the action. A regiment of Uhlans charged on the staff of Bazaine and twenty of the Marshal's escort were placed hors de combat. The captain commanding the escort was killed. At eight o'clock the enemy was driven back along his entire line. It is estimated that 120,000 Prussians were engaged.

PARTICULARS BY AN EYE WITNESS.

The Gaulois says the following particulars have been communicated by an eye-witness, belonging to a regiment of Chasseurs.

The Emperor left Metz with the advance guard Sunday last for Verdun. On that day there was a bloody and protracted engagement. The Prussian army was repulsed by our troops and lost from 16,000 to 18,000. Nearly all their cannon fell into our hands. The guns of Fort St. Quenton played an important part in this battle and with terrible effect. On Monday, about nine o'clock in the morning, a number of Chasseurs D'Afrique, were sent to reconnoitre the neighborhood of Mars la Tour. They suddenly came upon three regiments of Prussian infantry and two battalions of artillery which immediately opened fire. Col. Gabfet ordered his men to charge, but at that moment an order came from Bazaine to fall back on the road and protect the passage of the Emperor, and the Chasseurs returned and encamped a little above Jarny. About two in the afternoon the Emperor, who intended to sleep at Conflans, passed over the road, going in the direction of Verdun. As at Conflans several Uhlans had suddenly appeared and shot over the road like a flash of lightning. Our cannon thundered all the evening from the direction of Etain, and the roar of the cannonade was still heard at six o'clock in the morning. At about seven o'clock thirty-five Uhlans passed the camp and disappeared in the woods, all traces of them being lost. On Tuesday the Emperor arrived at Verdun, at noon, and left in a train at half-past two. Two regiments of Chasseurs had been ordered from Chalons to watch the wood and guard the railroad track.

The person who communicates these details belonged to this detachment. He met the train bearing the Emperor. With the Emperor were M. Pietri and Prince Murat. It was reported the Prince Imperial and Prince Napoleon also accompanied him. The train consisted of only two third class cars for passengers, two for horses and three for baggage vans. It reached Rheims in the evening. At Verdun we could hear the sound of cannonade coming from the direction of St. Michael. At St. Menehould it was reported that Bar Le Duc had been occupied by the French.

FROM LONDON.

FIGHTING ON THURSDAY.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—There was fighting all day yesterday near Mars la Tour.

PRUSSIAN SUCCESS—FRENCH ARMY DIVIDED—CHALONS THREATENED.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Times publishes a special telegram from Berlin this morning, which contains the following intelligence: The French army has been separated by the victory of the Prussians at Mars la Tour. The main army has been forced back on Metz and brought to a stand by the First and Second German corps under Prince Frederick Charles and Gen. Steinmetz. The road is now open to Chalons for the Crown Prince, who has only Gen. Trochu and some fragments of Marshal MacMahon's corps to encounter on the way. A decisive event is impending. The Prussians maneuvered over 150,000 men in Tuesday's battle.

GARRISON AT METZ FAMISHING.

The Times' correspondent also declares that the garrison at Metz is in a famishing condition. There are no provisions at Metz, and the avenues of supply have been intercepted.

ARMY OF THE RHINE CUT OFF.

The Times declares that unless Marshal Bazaine can, by a bold stroke, cut his way through the German army and extricate himself from its coils, the French army on the Rhine will be forced to capitulate. It is assumed that such an alternative is almost imminent.

PRUSSIANS RETAIN THEIR POSITION.

A dispatch from Pont-a-Mousson, 18th, says: All was quiet along the front yesterday. The Prussian army held the position gained in Tuesday's battle. A part of Marshal Bazaine's force is in Metz, and a portion is retreating by Etain on Verdun. One army corps of the Prussian force engaged three corps of the French army and a portion of the Imperial Guard. The cavalry rode down the ranks of the French army toward the close of the battle, completing the victory, and driving them back on Metz. The prisoners include several officers of the Imperial Guard.

SCATTERING DETAILS.

The particulars of the battle near Metz on Sunday afternoon are being received through French channels. The French claim that the Prussians lost ten thousand killed and wounded, while their loss was not one half that number. The battle was opened at three o'clock in the afternoon by an attack of a Prussian corps upon the division commanded by General Frossard. The latter was about withdrawing from his position at the time, and the Emperor had just departed.

Prince Frederick Charles, assisted by Gen. Steinmetz, led the attacking forces.

The retreat of the French army was conducted with the utmost skill, while the Fourth corps engaged the enemy.

During the battle Marshal Bazaine displayed the greatest valor, and risked his life in the midst of the heaviest fighting. Several horses were killed under him, but the Marshal escaped with only a slight flesh wound.

OTHER POWERS AND THE WAR.

The news from Russia is almost menacing. There was a demonstration yesterday of the students at Moscow against Prussia, and repressive measures of the Russian authorities against the German and Lettish inhabitants of Esthonia and Courland are reported to be increasing in severity.

Active negotiations, the purport of which is unknown, are going on between St. Petersburg and Venice.

A special agent from Constantinople, dispatched by the new Turkish Minister, is daily expected in London.

The Prince and Princess of Wales are unusually harmonious in their open sympathies with the French. The Prince's feeling is believed to rest on his great dislike of his brother-in-law, the Crown Prince of Prussia.

ROAD TO PARIS OPEN—NO PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

LONDON, August 19.—The Times in its article on the situation says: The road to Paris is open to the Crown Prince, who may leave Charles Frederick to watch Marshal Bazaine.

This morning's Post says semi-officially: No peace negotiations are afoot. The government is satisfied that France will not treat until she is done retreating. All turns on the capture of Paris.

The Post also denies the story recently published of the presence of Prince Murat in England.

LATER FROM THE SEAT OF CARNAGE.

LONDON, August 19.—The following is the latest from the seat of war.

There was fighting all day Thursday near Mars la Tour. The latest French dispatches are full of expressions of confidence of victory.

The following additional facts of Tuesday's conflict have been received:

A battalion of the 73d French regiment of the line destroyed a regiment of German lancers, capturing their colors. There were several brilliant charges by the French, in one of which General Le Grand was killed. It is reported that Prince Albert, commanding the Prussian cavalry, was killed outright, but this is not confirmed. After a close conflict the French occupied the Prussian position. It is said the French force engaged numbered 150,000.

There was severe fighting on the 17th near Gravellotte.

The Emperor is still at Rheims.

The ground between Metz and Verdun has been the scene of constant carnage since Tuesday.

FURTHER OF NAPOLEON'S INTRIGUES.

LONDON, August 19.—A German Hungarian monthly gives further revelations of French policies toward Prussia and the North German Confederation, viz: Certain propositions were made at Salzburg in 1867 by Napoleon to Beust, the Austrian Prime Minister. The Emperor offered to sustain Austria in demanding the literal fulfilment of the treaty of Prague, insisting that any alliance of Prussia with the South German States should be considered a violation of the compact. The Prussians were to be required to evacuate Mayence, and Hesse north of the river Main to go with the south of it, a Zolverein of the South German States to be established, and war to be declared if Prussia hesitated to yield to Austria's demand. Prussia to be compelled to do justice to Denmark in the matter of the Schleswig-Holstein provinces, and the Southern States were to be coerced, if necessary, into the arrangement. English ships in the Baltic were to be obliged to show their flags and papers at the summons of French cruisers.

NAPOLEON VERY SICK—HIS ILL-SUCCESS THE RESULT OF TREASON.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Telegrams to-day from Brussels report the Emperor quite ill with symptoms of intense cerebral excitement. He is said to charge his misadventures to treason. This story is forwarded as one of the rumors of the war, but generally discredited.

AN ARMISTICE REFUSED—"ON TO PARIS."

LONDON, August 19.—It is certain Prussia has refused a proposition recently made looking to an armistice. She will discuss no proposition outside of Paris. An analogy of the campaign with the advance on Richmond is suggested.

FROM PRUSSIA.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS OF FIGHTING.

BERLIN, August 19.—The Staats Anzeiger has the following details of General Steinmetz's movements:

The General succeeded in engaging the enemy while the latter was retreating from Metz in a southerly direction, and obliged him to pause near Aricark, where, approaching on the left bank of the river, Prince Frederick Charles overtook the French left on the 16th. The Prince had the Third Corps, which, although it had been engaged at Saarbrucken and Forbach, instantly attacked the enemy, in company with General Stylpnagel's fifth division, and maintained its ground against superior force for six hours, until the Hanover corps, with the 22d and 25th divisions, arrived on the scene. These six divisions, under Prince Frederick Charles, repulsed the 3d, 4th, 5th and 6th divisions, and the French Imperial Guard. The Prussians took two thousand prisoners, two eagles and seven guns, and constrained the enemy to rapid movements from the banks of the Meuse to the fortified city of Metz.

THE POPE INTERCEDES FOR PEACE.

BERLIN, August 18.—Midnight.—The Pope of Rome, in a letter to King William, has offered his mediation for the restoration of peace. The King, in reply, says that Prussia neither desired or provoked the war now waging, and was ready to listen to the appeal of the Pope for peace, if the independence of Germany was insured and if his Holiness was able to give assurance of the peaceful disposition of the Emperor of France, and guarantee a pledge by the latter to abstain from any future attempt to disturb the peace of Europe.

THE BLOCKADE.

A Hamburg letter says the people there are quite reconciled to the blockade, adapting their business to its requirements.

THE INFALLIBILITY QUESTION.

Cardinal Antonelli has addressed a letter to the Papal Nuncio in Belgium, saying the Holy See has heard some of the Bishops think the Apostolic Constitution, including the dogma of infallibility proclaimed by the Ecumenical Council, July 18th, is not obligatory upon the Church, so long as it is not published solemnly and officially by the Pope. The Cardinal says every one should understand that this view is an error. The constitution was duly promulgated and the Pontiff confirmed it. It was understood in all usual places, and is binding upon the whole Catholic world, without further notice.

LONDONDERRY, August 19.—The steamship European, from Quebec, was off here to-day.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, August 19, 1870.

Wall street was this morning thrown into a state of agitation and excitement by a rumor from Troy that Commodore Vanderbilt had been seized by an apoplectic fit at Saratoga, from which it was doubtful if he would recover. This news produced for the time a severe panic in stocks, in which it is known the Commodore is largely interested, and weak holders made haste to realize at whatever price they would bring. The downward course was not arrested. New York Central stock had sold down to 91½, scrip to 86½, and Lake Shore to 90¼, a decline of from 3 to 8 per cent. compared with last night's prices. A subsequent positive denial of the story resulted at once in a better feeling and recovery in prices.

Money more active at 5@6 on stock collaterals, with the bulk of transactions at the higher rates. On government loans at 4@5. Private business paper 7@8. Foreign exchange weak, good bankers', Germans, said to be against bonds, offered ¼ per cent. below the regular quotations. Prime bankers ask 9⅜, but there were sales at 9⅛ and sight at 110⅛ and cable transfers at 110¼.

The gold market is devoid of animation or speculative feature. The temper of market weak is owing to no war news, the attention of operators being deserted to stock. Market rates paid for having balances carried 3½ flat for borrowing which indicates that the shorts freely covered their contracts. All sales of the day at 16@16¼; closing at 16¼ bid, and 16⅜ asked.

Clearances $42,000,000. Export for to-morrow estimated at about $300,000.

Governments steady but dull; Coupons '81, 114½@124¼; '62s, 12½@12¾; '64s, 11½@11¾; '65s, 11⅝@11¾; new do, 10@10⅛; '67s, 10⅛@10¼; '68s, 10⅛@10¼; 10-40s, 8⅛@8¼; currencies, 12@12¼.

State bonds quiet and steady; Missouris, 90½; old Tennessees, 62½; new do, 61½; Virginias, 63; old North Carolinas, 32; new do, 31½.

Stocks closed strong at the best prices of to-day, but still lower than yesterday.

NEW YORK, August 19, 1870.

GERMAN JUBILATION.

There was a grand German celebration in Jones' Wood to-day of recent Prussian victories in France, attended by over 30,000 people, including Mayor Hall and many prominent city officials. Triumphal columns, transcribed with the names of victorious fields, were erected on the grounds and groves and trees everywhere gaily decked in German and American colors. Musical and dramatic performances, speeches and fireworks seemed to constitute the main features of the programme.

CONSTITUTIONALITY AFFIRMED.

Judge Woodruff has just given a decision affirming the constitutionality of the statute allowing powers to issue bonds in aid of the Construction railroads.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS.

—The loss by fire at the Canon city, California, was $250,000.

—The Pope has decided to recall his Nuncio from Vienna on account of Austria's abrogation of the Concordat.

—A sash and blind factory at Auburn, N. Y., was destroyed by fire Thursday night, involving a loss of $15,000.

—Hon. Thomas H. Weasver, an old and prominent citizen of Cincinnati, died yesterday from cancer of the stomach.

—Two negroes had a fight Thursday night, at Omaha, one using an axe and the other a razor. Both were somewhat hashed up.

—Lieut. Gov. M. M. Walden has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the Fourth District of Iowa, of Oskaloosa, beating Judge Loughridge, present member, and Ex-Gov. Stone.

—The dispatch announcing the illness of Commodore Vanderbilt purported to have been signed by the city editor of the Troy Times. It was forged. Efforts are making to ascertain the author.

—Ex-President Fillmore has issued a call for the Southern Commercial Convention to convene at Cincinnati October 4th. The basis of representation will be the same as adopted at the Memphis Convention.

—At Savannah, Thursday morning, a duel took place between Richard Aiken and Ludlow Cohn, two well known citizens. They exchanged five rounds, when the latter was mortally wounded. Aiken was unhurt.

—It was announced in New York Thursday evening that Commodore Vanderbilt was seriously ill at Saratoga, having fallen in an apoplectic fit, but a later dispatch states that he was about yesterday in his usual health.

—The Phoenix Oil Works, owned by Malcolm Lloyd, at Gibson's Point, on the Schuylkill river, were partially destroyed by fire yesterday, originating from an explosion of gas. The still man was badly injured. Loss heavy.

—The Missouri River Presbytery adjourned to meet at Brownsville, Nebraska, in April next. A special committee was appointed for the new trial of Dr. Novell, who was expelled over a year ago on the charge of having written indecent letters to a young lady.

—The American Association for the Advancement of Science is in session at Troy, N. Y. Sterry Hunt is President. Thursday evening the retiring President, Col. Foster, of Chicago, delivered the annual address, after which the members attended a reception at the house of the Mayor.

—The bodies of two or three burglars who murdered the young man Merrick in Holbert's store, at Binghamton, N. Y., on Wednesday, were found yesterday in the Chenango river. They attempted to cross the river and drowned. Both were injured in the fight with clerks at the store.

—Charles Walton and wife reached Chicago last night on their way to Southern Missouri, in charge of an officer, accused of the murder of Wm. Nowlan, wife and baby, at Marshfield, Webster county, Missouri, in October, 1867, nearly three years ago. They were captured a few days since in Fairabault, Minnesota.

—The Young Men's Christian Association having appointed a Committee to suppress the gambling houses at Saratoga, Ford & Allen closed their establishment on Wednesday. On Thursday the officers visited John Morrissey's place and took an inventory of the implements, which he agreed to deliver to them on Monday.

—At Wheeling, on Thursday night, a fire broke out in the second story of Anderson's shoestore, destroying the wood work in the second and third stories. A large stock of boots in the second story was pretty effectually destroyed between fire and water. The goods and safe were successfully removed from the first floor. The origin of the fire is a mystery. The Grant House opposite, and Mayor McClellan's residence adjoining, made a narrow escape. The loss is between five and eight thousand dollars; partially insured.

Drought in Canada—Severe Gale—Fires in the Woods—Great Destruction of Property.

OTTAWA, August 19.—No rain has fallen in this region for more than two months. The whole country is as dry as tinder. There was a terrific gale last night and the destruction of life and property is very great. Several wealthy farmers were burned out recently, losing eight to ten thousand dollars each. Gilmore's piling ground, for lumber, was burned, with six million feet of lumber; loss $40,000. The destruction of property within twenty miles of the city is estimated above $800,000. The city is in considerable danger.

QUEBEC, August 19.—There was a very heavy hurricane this morning, very destructive to property throughout the country. Some shipping in the harbor was damaged.

Severe Storm at Evansville, Indiana.

EVANSVILLE, Aug. 19.—At two o'clock to-day there was a storm of wind, rain and lightning. The unfinished steeple of Trinity Lutheran Church was blown down crushing in the Trinity school house roof and side walls. Damages $2,000 to $3,000. No one hurt. John Tahill, an old citizen, standing in a barn door, was struck by lightning and killed. A barn in Knight township was struck and burned with a mower, two wagons and hay crop, and one horse killed. The steeple of Walnut street church was struck; damage slight. The skylight of the Opera House was blown off. Trees were blown down and the wharf boats grounded.

THE COLOGNE Gazette contains a leader violently inveighing against England's neutrality. Alluding to the cartoon in Punch, which represents Britannia attempting to prevent Louis Napoleon and King William from coming to blows. The Gazette observes that Britannia should no longer be represented with a helmet, but with a chignon a la Eugenie, or rather with a cotton nightcap. Her present Government, it says, fears nothing so much as a war, and carries Cobden's principle of non-intervention to an absurd extreme. "Cobden himself is dead, but his friend Bright is Minister, and Gladstone, whose incredible weakness both before and after the Crimean war is not forgotten, is now the First Lord of the Treasury." THERE is a Philharmonic society in Shanghae, China.

THE Empress Eugenie is described as "being sadly changed and worn by heavy days and sleepless nights."

TO ALL the other ways of spelling Woerth, the scene of the recent battle, a correspondent has added Warth.

GEN. GARIBALDI has telegraphed in reply to an inquiry about an advance on Rome: "The day that there will be some chance of success you will receive orders."

A PARIS bookseller, having applied to a Berlin publisher of lithographic prints for a great number of copies of the portraits of the more illustrious Prussian generals, received the reply: "There are no copies left; we send you the originals."

THE FRENCH war Administration has contracted at Toulon for the supply of a million litres of wine for the troops. One house at Beziers and another at Narbonne are to deliver, within a fortnight, 600,000 litres at Cherboug and 400,000 at Brest.

KRUPP's new Prussian cannon to oppose the mittrailleur, is said to consist of a small two barrelled cannon, throwing shot at a prodigious distance with an accuracy equalling even that of the famous rifle guns first used in the Italian war in 1859 by the French.

FRENCH papers recently received literally empty the vials of their wrath on Bismarck's head. The Paris Journal calls the Count a liar, falsifier, corrupter, land pirate, man slaver, crown robber, Colossus with feet of clay, executioner with bloody hands, &c.; and then informs its readers that during the war with Austria the Prussian Minister distributed to the English, German, Italian, Swiss, American and Austrian press 7,800,000 francs.

AN Englishman writing from Saarbrucken on July 28th, says: "I can't help reiterating that in all the shooting there has yet been, the Prussians have had out and out the best of it. Nothing could be worse than the chassepot at short ranges. We see the Feenchmen spitting on their cartridges, sticking their fingers into their guns, and giving every possible sign that after a few shots the chassepot gets so foul that they don't know how to treat it."

THE Musical Standard says that in spite of hostilities a pacific congress of dramatic authors and composers is still talked of as to be held next month in Nuremberg. Offenbach's little son, a child of nine years, has met with a severe accident through a fall from a horse. M. Auber and the widow of Scribe, the librettist, assign to the French Patriotic Fund their rights as author and composer so long as the "Marseillaise" accompanies "La Muette de Portici."

ACCORDING to a circular of Messrs. Arles, Dufour & Co., of Lyons, the outbreak of war, "as lamentable as unexpected," has nearly stopped all transactions in the silk markets at that city. Large orders of goods for Germany and Paris were withdrawn; but, on the other hand, in consequence of Rhenish Prussia and of many districts of Switzerland, some important purchases have been made for English and Russian consumption at reductions not exceeding 10 to 15 per cent.

THE value of the exports made from the United Kingdom to the Australian Colonies has experienced a considerable contraction this year, having amounted to May 31 to £4,112,797, as compared with £5,359,391 in the corresponding period of 1869, and £4,251,144 in the corresponding period of 1868. The only Australian colony to which our exports have increased this year has been New Zealand. Western Australia, South Australia, Victoria, New South Wales, Queensland, and Tasmania, have all consumed smaller quantities of our produce and manufactures.

HERE is a private telegram which gives the Prince Imperial credit for even greater warlike propensities than are signalized in his papa's dispatch to his mamma. He has the satisfaction of reflecting that he actually shed blood with his own little hand. The terrible mitrailleuse is worked by a single man turning a handle like that of a coffee mill. A telegram in the France is thus worded:

"FORBACH, August 2, 7.15 P. M.—The Prince Imperial in person fired the first shot from our mitrailleuses, which literally mowed down the Prussians.

"Vive le Prince Imperial!"

A CURIOUS result of the war is a large number of simultaneous marriages in the Prussian army. On the 31st ult. a great number of military weddings were performed at Altona, by express permission of the King, and the special relaxation of the standing order that the bans must be published three times. In Berlin on the same Sunday, in the garrison church in that city, more than 100 soldiers and their betrothed were bound together in holy matrimony. The object appears to be that though they will necessarily be separated from their young wives during the honeymoon, the husbands have the satisfaction of knowing that in case of their being killed the widows will be adequately provided for by their grateful country.

A GERMAN paper calls attention to the fact that the French troops carry but one eagle in each regiment, and that in September last the French Minister of War issued a regulation according to which the standards of the second, third, and fourth battalions of the French regiments are to bear neither the national colors, nor, as heretofore, the number of regiment or any inscription whatsoever, so as in case of loss not to serve as a trophy. Every German battalion has a standard with the full significance of a field sign. The number of conquered trophies will, therefore, have to be carefully distinguished in each case, nor will the heavy sums promised by the Germans for the French eagles be so easily gained under the circumstances.

THE Spectator declares that the mere cost of faithlessness to Belgium would in a few years be greater than the cost of fidelity; while the cost in character, in independence, and in the best results of our insularity would be incalculable. If we abandon Belgium, the one European spot not our own which the Continent expects us to defend, we must recede from the Continent forever, must retire from our place in the civilized family of mankind, and either sink into the position of a larger and more pauperized Holland—a Holland full of great estates and people with too little to eat—or confine ourselves to the task of civilizing Asia; sink, as it were, without willingness and without ennobling faith, from statesmen into missionaries. No one will trust us, for we shall have broken an obligation we acknowledged because it was inconvenient to fulfil it.

Synopsis of the Semon Preached by Rev. Dr. Montgomery at the Funeral of Admiral Farragut.

The glorious old Admiral is dead, and the news of the bereavement has flashed to every heart on the Continent, and the nation wept to-day over one not more honored than he was beloved. Soldiers and sailors and ministers of God and influential citizens and civic bodies came up this day to tenderly consign to his narrow house one who was as much distinguished for his purity of character as for his greatness in war. As the press had spread abroad a faithful account of his life and history, he would not detain them by referring to them, but would allude to one or two salient points in his career. One of the greatest points in the Admiral's character was his compliance with that beautiful law which regulated Grecian architecture, his obedience and trust in the laws of God. He supposed it would be hard to find within the range of human experience a man of greater impersonation of truth than Admiral Farragut. He spoke and lived the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. He "never sold the right to serve the hour, nor paltered with Eternal God for power." In this characteristic and his modesty and freedom from ostentation, history will place him on the side of Washington and Wellington. His exploit at Mobile in his lofty post of danger, presiding over the battle, is typical of his whole life; and here, said the Doctor, I wish to state a fact which is not generally known to this congregation and the public. On that occasion, while the Admiral was lashed in the rigging of the Hartford, he offered up a prayer in the following words: "Oh God, my maker, lead me to do this day what is right and best for my country." In answer to the prayer the Admiral said he heard a voice from Heaven which seemed in tones of thunder to say, "Go forward!" He obeyed the voice, and went foward and conquered. In speaking of his tender and sympathizing nature, the reverend gentleman said that no man ever united the feminine quality, the fortitude of woman, and the more robust attributes of the sterner sex, than did Farragut. His life in its lofty devotion taught the lesson to our youth that he who obeys the high behests of duty with the toil of heart, head and hand, shall find these heights of duty scaled close upon the shining table lands of Heaven.

"O! good, grey head, which all men knew!
O! iron nerve, to each occasion true!
O! fallen at length,
That tower of strength,
Which stood four-square to all the winds that blew."

One suggestion he wished to make, that nothing more appropriate to his memory could be done by the government and people than to erect a pure white column, surmounted with his statue, and inscribed with some of the thrilling exploits of his life. Dr. Montgomery spoke of the Admiral's devout and humble reception of Holy Communion some four months ago, in remembrance of our adorable Redeemer, and of the comfort the Admiral derived from some of the beautiful hymns of praise, among them and the granite hymn

"Jesus, Saviour of my soul."

"How firm a foundation ye saints of the Lord," &c.

A Peninsula Parallel.

The operations now going on between the Moselle and Meuse rivers in many respects recall those enacted between the James and Chickahominy rivers in 1862. After abandoning the line of the Saar, Napoleon concentrated all his forces around and below Metz, in the same manner as McClellan concentrated around Richmond. The Prussians, however, determined upon an effort to rout the French out of this position. In the same manner was Stonewall Jackson dispatched to turn McClellan's right, the Crown Prince, after dispersing McMahon's forces, kept on westward via Nancy, to turn the right of the new French position. On the 25th of June, McClellan telegraphed to the President, "I incline to think that Jackson will attack my right and rear." The General's expectations were realized. Jackson turned his right wing and compelled McClellan to begin his seven days' retreat to the James. The Crown Prince's advance to the right and rear of Napoleon's new line, compelled his retreat toward the Meuse. When McClellan began to fall back, Lee attacked him in large force, but was repulsed as often as fresh onslaughts were made. The Confederate attempt to cut off the Federal retreat failed. McClellan reached his new base, not however, until after both armies had suffered heavy losses. It looks very much this morning as if the Prussians, following up the Confederate plans, had encountered similar results. Were it not for the absence of all news at Paris we should be strongly inclined to suppose that the Prussians, instead of cutting off the French retreat to the line of the Meuse, had encountered severe checks. On the other hand, it would seem as if the French authorities would hasten to communicate victories to the people if they had achieved them. We are inclined to believe that both armies between Metz and Verdun have been so badly punished that they are unable to determine their real status. Manifestly there has been terrible fighting and plenty of it.—N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

SMITH'S
American Organs.

Having completed an important addition to their Factory, together with improvements made necessary by their largely increased business, the Manufacturers take pleasure in informing their friends and the musical public that they are now prepared to answer orders for all the various styles of their instruments.

As their reputation has been the slow growth of twenty years, and not the result of puffery, they propose to adhere to the principles by which they have succeeded, viz.:

To use best materials only without regard to price.

To insist on the highest style of work.

To combine all the elements of power, but not at the sacrifice of sweetness and delicacy.

To look for constant improvement, keeping absolute perfection in view.

With every possible facility for the production of the best work at fair rates, and guided by their long experience, the manufacturers claim that their Organs

ARE NOT SURPASSED.

For proof it is only necessary to point to their ready sale in England, AT DOUBLE THE PRICE, in competition with the ALEXANDRE ORGAN, which, as is well known, received the first prize at the Paris Exposition.

A Thorough Comparison is Invited, as to all the points of superiority claimed for these splendid instruments.

At the present rate of production, it will not be long before there will be

AN ORGAN IN EVERY HOUSEHOLD.

BOTH FRANCE and England have hay famines. The unusually prolonged season of heat and the absence of rain in both countries, have combined to render the hay crop an utter failure and great distress results to the farmer and dairy men.

THE PUBLIC DEBT of the United States amounts to $2,380,324,476; that of Great Britain, $3,985,158,250; that of France $5,833,400,285. The debt of the United States is being rapidly diminished, while those of the other countries is increasing.

THE COMMISSIONER of the Bureau of Education has caused a circular of information to be printed which contains many useful hints and valuable statistics. The design of this circular is to give answers to the numerous inquiries that are made by letters at the department for information on the subject of education.

OUR THANKS are due to our ever attentive and obliging friend, STEPHEN LITTLE, Esq., the efficient Auditor of the Northern Central Railway, for a mounted copy of Barrington's Railway Guide. It is a map of 32x29 in., and is a complete guide to all the railways in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, with portions of New York, Ohio, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia. It will prove to be a very valuable guide to the merchant and commercial traveler, as well as to the railroad officials.

THE PRUSSIAN PRINCE ALBERT, reported killed, is probably Prince Frederick Heinrich Albert, General of cavalry, inspector of the third division of the army and Colonel of the regiment of Lithuanian dragoons and of the seventh regiment of infantry of Brandenburg. The Prince was born October 14th, 1809, and married the Princess Marianne, daughter of William I, King of the Netherlands, in 1830. In 1849 he was divorced and four years later contracted a Morganatic marriage with Rosalie, Countess of Hohenan, with whom, when off duty, he has since lived, estranged from the Prussian court, in his magnificent villa, on the right bank of the Elbe, a few miles above Dresden.

AWAY DOWN IN MAINE the Democrats, in State Convention assembled, "resolved that the National Administration has proved a failure; it has violated its sacred pledges to the people; it promised them economy and faithfulness in national affairs, but it has given them extravagance and corruption; it promised a republican form of government, but in many of the States it has established a military despotism, trying thereby to intimidate the people thereof and make them subservient to their wicked rule." This is about equal in cool impudence to a memorable declaration pompously made at Chicago when Grant was administering a cure for rebellion, that the whole war was a failure. Truth is not one of the best holds of the Democracy; never was, never will be.

THE WAR SITUATION is daily becoming more complicated, and it is hard to guess what a day may bring about. From some views of the present condition of things peace seems to be almost at hand. Napoleon must either do some very hard and desperate fighting to extricate his army from the awkward position occupied, or else accept terms of peace from King William. The offer of the Pope to act as peace-maker, and the response thereto, by the Prussian King, is interesting reading matter, and develops how confident the latter is in his ability to dictate terms to the out-generaled Napoleon. If Russia interferes, as she seems now so likely to do, a general European war will commence, and in this view peace is not so near at hand as we might judge from a survey of the field of war. But we must have patience and not anticipate too much, for results come soon enough.

IT IS ESTIMATED that the annual reduction of the Internal Revenue will reach $55,312,000. The following table has been furnished by the Bureau of Statistics of the reductions under the act approved July 14th, 1870:

one over the others. Immense armies have been levied, rivers of human blood have been shed, and vast treasures expended to preserve the "equilibrium" of their power, but as yet it has not been accomplished. And it is not likely that it will be, until nations shall beat their swords and spears into plow-shares and pruning hooks. The uneasiness of a head that wears a crown, and the frightfulness of the apparition of the "balance of power" are very clearly exhibited in the announcement made yesterday, that an empire so extensive in area and inexhaustible in resources, of such a numerous population and strong military power as Russia, should allow her equanimity to be disturbed by any success that crowns the arms of any nation.

A few years ago Bayard Taylor delivered a lecture in Concert Hall, in this city, on "Russia and her People," in the course of which he declared that Europe combined might injure but could not destroy the integrity of Russian nationality. The history of Russia commences with the last half of the ninth century. About that time a Scandinavian race, called Varages or Varangians, assumed the right of dominion, over the Slavonic and Finnish tribe who inhabited the eastern shores of the Baltic, and were not much addicted to martial pursuits. These tribes had given themselves to the cultivtion of peace, in which they had made great progress, and carried on commerce to a considerable extent. Having been greatly disturbed in their peaceful avocations of trade and commerce by the more warlike people who lived in close proximity to them, they invoked the aid of the Varages to repulse their invaders. But as soon as their unprincipled allies succeeded in driving out the disturbers of their peace, they settled themselves down in their midst and established their dominion over them. And about the year 862, Ruric, the leader of the Varages, reared a town on the site now occupied by Old Ladoga, and made it the seat of government. Ladoga is about seventy miles east of St. Petersburgh, which was founded by Peter the Great in 1703, and since his time has been the capital of Russia.

Peter succeeded to the crown of Russia in 1682, when he was only ten years of age. His half-sister Sophia, who held the regency, used every effort to keep him as long as possible from the exercise of governmental rule. Indeed it is charged that she did everything in her power to render him unfit for the administration of State affairs. To this end she neglected to give him a suitable education, and surrounded him with every temptation that would be likely to lead to idleness and dissipation. In 1689, however, when he was only seventeen years of age, he threw off the restraints of the regent, freed himself of her domination, and assumed the reins of government. In order to remedy the defects of an imperfect education, he applied himself most assiduously to the cultivation of his mind, and so successful was he in his studies that he acquired, almost without the aid of a tutor, a knowledge of several foreign languages. He paid great attention to the mechanical arts, and especially to the art of ship building. He was fully impressed with the idea that no nation could become prosperous, and rise into magnificence and power without maintaining an extensive commerce and merchant marine. When he ascended the throne Russia possessed no sea-port except Archangel on the White sea. But by indomitable energy and perseverance he soon gave her sea ports, fleets, commerce, manufactures, arts and institutions of learning, and thus elevated the "barbarous and despised Muscovy" to that proud position which he now occupies among the nations of civilization, and laid the foundation of that extensive empire, which is the largest in the world. He justly earned for himself the epithet of Peter the Great.

From the date of his accession to the throne, Russia has ever been extending her area and increasing in power. Since that time, she has had a territorial expansion of several hundreds of miles toward Stockholm, Vienna and Constantinople, and a thousand miles toward the sands of Persia. She has an area of 8,582,741 English square miles, 225,000 miles of which were acquired under the reign of Catharine the Second. She has a seaboard of 25,000 miles, equal to the circumference of the earth; the length from west to east is upwards of 9,500 miles, and the width more than 2,500. When Peter ascended the throne the population was only fifteen millions; in 1815 it was 45,000,000; in 1835 it was 53,000,0000; in 1851 was 65,000,000, and at present it is more than 78,000,000. Her regular army in times of peace numbers about 600,000 men, but when the necessities of war demand it, it can be increased to more than double that number. The exports of Russia amount to one hundred and fifty millions annually, those of Asiatic Russia not included.

With all this vast area, immense population, powerful army and increasing prosperity Russia is "pressing" England for an "understanding" in reference to the balance of power. This would seem to indicate that the victories won by the Prussians are much more decisive than we have been led to suppose, and that the arms of William are formidably irresistible. Every new development seems to give a darker hue to the dynasty of Napoleon, and indicate more certainly its final annihilation.

—Later telegrams bring the intelligence that the attitude of Russia is actually menacing. Troops are moving in the direction of the Prussian frontier, and the authorities of Esthonia and Courland subordinate governments of Russia, are increasing in severity in their repressive measures against the German inhabitants of these places. It is reported also that the students of the University of Moscow made significant demonstrations against Russia on Thursday. The press, too, of which is under the strictest restraint of the RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

The disposition of some ministers to seek for places in large cities and for high offices in Church Boards, and failing to secure them, refuse to enter other fields of labor, and either enter a secular calling, or Micawber like, wait for something better to turn up, is condemned by the Presbyterian in strong words. It hints at a movement in the Presbyterian Church of presbyters, to deprive ministers who are without pastoral charges of a voice in ecclesiastical courts, not so much to gratify a desire for power or office, but to abate the evil indicated above stated. It thinks that such ministers ought to feel the weight of a just discipline in a way that will secure the health of the Church and the efficiency of the ministry. It discriminates between those who are called by the Church to teach and to conduct the benevolent operations of the Boards, and urges caution, while seeking to punish the really guilty, not to afflict or injure those who are doing as much good, as teachers and office-bearers, as those in the regular pastorate.

The Trustees of the General Theological Seminary of the Episcopal Church took action that the institution was designed for the eduction of candidates for holy orders in the Episcopal Church, to the exclusion of all persons preparing for either secular business or for any religious office or work of other denominations.

Rev. Charles A. Dickey, formerly of Allegheny City, and his family, are spending their vacation among their friends in this city and vicinity. Since he took charge of the First Presbyterian church of St. Louis, Mo., nearly one year ago, almost every pew in it is taken, and very often every pew in that large church is filled.

According to a circular from the Treasurer of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, New York, the receipts for the quarter ending 1st inst. fall short of the same time last year about ten thousand dollars.

Within five years mission Sunday-school labors at Troy, New York, have resulted in the establishing of eleven missions, numbering in all eighteen hundred teachers and scholars. Over two hundred thousand dollars have been invested in the work. The Presbyterians have four, the Episcopalians four, the Baptists three. Many conversions are also reported.

The Churchman protests against the doctrine of some secular papers that the recent "carnival of crime," boldly stated or mildly implied, that the heat of the weather is in a great measure responsible, as utter paganism. It thinks if secular papers blunder in tracing motives and moral points, no one is the worse for it. But when we get a dictum, it argues, which attempts to establish a right relation between murder and the mercury at ninety degrees, it must enter a protest against the fallacy.

The Congregationalist represents that the first sermon preached in New England was in 1617, by Robert Cushman, a layman, from the text—"Let no man seek his own, &c." Another authority states that the honor belongs to an Episcopal Minister, who preached at an earlier date, near what is now Bath, in Maine.

The Boston correspondent of the Christain Intelligencer gives instances of laymen, without theological training, or intent to preach as a permanent work, occupying the pulpits of Unitarians. Sabbath week a lawyer named Park, of Boston, preached at Medfield.

Recent advices indicate that the Universalist Centenary Memorial project, of raising a large fund for Church purposes, is prospering finely, except in a few localities.

Nearly fifty camp meetings, as announced in a New York city Methodist paper, are to be held this month and the first week of September.

The Independent takes down the Sunday School Times which says "Chicago has a second German Sunday-school," thus: If it has one it has twenty, we suppose; besides large German departments in some of its mission schools.

Over quarter a century ago twelve young graduates of Andover Seminary went to Iowa to found and instruct churches. Few Congregational churches existed then, in that State, and fewer ministers of that body; now there are over two hundred Congregational churches.

Rev. Theodore Cuyler, of Brooklyn, in one of his charming letters from Saratoga Springs, speaking of certain railroad and merchant kings—Vanderbilt, Drew, Cooper, Stewart and Dodge—says New York is ruled to-day by old men, sixty-fixe and above, and yet the idea obtains in some heads that a preacher is worn out at 55 and 60 is both superficial and unsustained by facts.

Objections are frequently urged in Sunday School gatherings against appointing unconverted persons as teachers of classes. The Christian Advocate, of New York, gives an instance of a superintendent of a Sunday School, who had sought in vain for teachers, selected over twenty unconverted persons for the purpose, and, after much persuasion, induced them to accept the office. In less than six months all of them were converted, and a large number of the pupils in their classes, mainly through the instrumentality of the Teachers' Prayer Meeting.

It appears from the statistical reports of the Southern Presbyterians that over twenty-nine thousand dollars were contributed last year for foreign missons, an advance of nearly fifty per cent. Nearly one half of the churches contributed nothing. They have missionaries among some of the Indian tribes, and in China at different points.

The venerable senior Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Bishop Thos. A. Morris, D. D., residing at Springfield, Ohio, in a recent letter to a friend, referring to his health, expresses the belief that his days of active service are over, he having been unable to preach for more than three years, on account of age and infirmity its dissolution, the different parts are falling into their proper affinities."

The Western Theological Seminary, of the Presbyterian Church, will open the first Tuesday of October, and the Allegheny Seminary, under the auspices of the United Presbyterian Church, will commence its fall session on the same day. Both institutions are located in Allegheny city, Penna.

At the interesting sixtieth anniversary of the ordination and installation of Rev. Gardiner Spring, D. D., as pastor of the Brick Church, New York city, Sabbath week, the venerable Doctor said: "He was in the midst of the fourth generation of those who had composed his pastoral charge. Of those who were connected with the church at the time of his ordination only four, as far as he could ascertain, now survived, and those were all females." Dr. Spring is in his eighty-sixth year.

For the Pittsburgh Gazette.

The Rip Van Winkles of Sewickley Valley.

One hundred years ago American Methodism was born in a rigging loft in the city of New York. At that time Presbyterianism was nearly a century old, and had taken firm footing in all the colonies. Two generations ago there was not a Methodist west of the Allegheny mountains. Fifty years ago there were a few feeble societies here and there in Western Pennsylvania, visited once in four weeks by an itinerant preacher, while Presbyterianism, with a settled pastorate, possessed nearly all the wealth, controlled all the colleges and academies, and held undisputed sway over the entire region. These original pastors were generally men of education and talent, (their descendants delight in styling them the "tall sons of Anak,") but they were also men of strong prejudices and great bigotry. The poor itinerant preacher with only his pony and saddle-bags, (the latter always well filled with Methodist Disciplines and Hymn Books) had a hard time of it among these giant sons of Anak. He was the butt of many a pious joke. The classical and educated Anakim called him an "ignoramus," "fanatic" &c., and warned their several flocks to beware of his danerous heresies and superstitions. But still the itinerants with their ponies and their saddle-bags continued their monthly rounds, of visiting the scattered societies, penetrating the loneliest neighborhoods, and making the hills and valleys echo with their earnest preaching and soul-stirring songs, proclaiming a free salvation for all! They held meetings in log cabins, in barns and out in the woods, and preached with such power and unction that the people flocked from all quarters to hear them. It was a new gospel to the people—totally different from the kind they had been accustomed to hear. The preachers were in earnest they felt what they uttered, and the truth went home to the hearts of the hearers. No wonder some of them shouted with joy at the "good news." And not much wonder if some of them, excited by the joyous tidings, should say and do things "not dreamed of" in the cold religion of the Anakim.

Around and onward still went the itinerant and the pony and the saddle bags, gaining friends everywhere, and forming societies and circuits all over the land. The Anakim became alarmed and resolved to expel the invaders. Venerable D. D.'s, editors, and unfledged divinity students formed a league to wage an unrelenting war of persecution against the new sect. The poor itinerant, with his old fashioned coat, his pony and his saddle bags, were held up to public ridicule. His doctrines were pronounced "damnable;" his earnest, heart-stirring sermons were called "rant;" his joyous, whole-souled music was stigmatized as "dancing tunes," All noise or excitement in their meetings was denounced as "rowdyism;" all emotional manisestations were styled "delusions," and all cries of mercy, bursts of joy or shouts of praise were mocked and sneered at.

Nevertheless the itinerant and the pony and the saddle-bags steadily and rapidly gained ground. In several pitched battles—public discussions—between a giaat Anakim and the humble itinerant, the despised Methodist utterly routed his boastful antagonist. Methodist churches were built in all the cities and villages and could be seen on nearly every country road. Methodist colleges and seminaries sprang up all over the country, and took position with the oldest in the land. The little book store started in Philadelphia had been removed to New York, and had grown into a large publishing house, with a flourishing branch establishment at Cincinnati. The original Christian Advocate of New York had become the mother of a quarterly and two monthlies, and nearly a dozen other weeklies in different localities, besides the Missionary and Sunday School Advocates.

The war against Methodism was a failure Notwithstanding the fierce persecution, and the tide of misrepresentations and "Difficulties" thrown in its path, its march was still grandly onward. And so wonderful had been its growth and progress, that, about twenty years ago, nearly all persecution and open hostility to it had ceased. Other churches were willing to recognize it as a sister church and extend to it the right hand of christian fellowship. The ministers and members of the Presbyterian church, generally, admitted their mistakes in reference to the true character of Methodism, and acknowledged that it was a growing power in the land.

During the last twenty years it has made still greater progress. It is now the largest denomination in the United States. Its churches, more colleges and seminaries, has the largest number of periodicals, and publish more books, and annually raises more money for benevolent purposes than any other denomination. In influence, political or otherwise, it is not inferior to any. Its peculiarities have pretty generally ceased to be the subject of ridicule. In fact, most of them, its songs, its camp meetings, have been adopted, in some modified forms, by other churches, and some of them are trying to warm themselves into a more vigorous life by the fire taken from Methodist altars.

But in the valley of Sewickley there are a few of the descendants of the old Anakim, who have been sleeping for the last twenty years, and are perfectly oblivious of the great changes that have taken place in that time. Very select and exclusive in their society they compose a choice little circle, from which all common people are rigidly debarred, and from which they never emerge to see what is going on in the outside world. From the flagon of their own vanity they took a draught as fatal as that which laid old Rip Van Winkle away for twenty years in Sleepy Hollow. They snoozed away in peace and delightful self-satisfaction. They scorned to read a Methodist book or look into a Methodist newspaper. They had heard their fathers tell sad tales about the Methodists, their camp meetings, their noise and excitement, &c., and they believed them all. These Methodists were of the common class

Anakim and good loyal subjects of the King of the olden time! They resolved to put a stop to this mischievous toryism. Gathering together all the stale jokes they had ever heard about Methodists, they hurled them with a mighty effort at the folks encamped on the hill, and expected to see them scattered like a flock of partridges. But what a failue! Not a bird was hurt or even scared. On the contrary they concluded to buy the ground and fit it up nicely for a permanent encampment. A second effort was then made, aided by a small pop gun they borrowed from a stranger that had recently located in the neighborhood; but this was even a greater failure than the first. Poor old Rip pretty nearly got into a scrape with the new villagers by his not knowing, that, during his long nap, the colonies had thrown off the British yoke and become an independent nation. Let the modern Rips take warning, and imitate his example. As soon as he got his eyes thoroughly open and comprehended the situation, he subsided into a quiet old gentleman that became very popular with the little ragged urchins by telling them tales of the times before the Revolution. So may these modern Rips. By repeating these tales very often they may yet become great favorites with the boys of the valley.

It is said that the old Dutch inhabitants had implicit faith in the story of Rip Van Winkle, and whenever they heard a thunder storm in the Kaatskill Mountains, they believed Heindrich Hudson and his crew were at their game of nine-pins; so whenever the Anakim of Sewickley valley hear a tremendous noise on the hill back of Leetsdale Station, they may be sure the Methodists are holding another camp meeting.

SADDLE-BAGS.

P. S.—Since the above was written, the Presbyterian Banner of this city, of Aug. 17th, has appeared and announces "A Presbyterian Camp Meeting," to be held in a beautiful forest about six miles from New Castle, to commence on the 30th inst., at 11 o'clock A. M.!! The camp meeting was authorized by the Presbytery of Shenango, and a committee of ministers and laymen appointed to make the arrangements, &c. Good for the Presbyterians of Shenango!

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, August 19, 1870.

The markets in a general way are devoid of anything specially new or important. Grain of all kinds is dull and unsettled with a continued drooping tendency. Wheat has declined 5@7 cts per bushel within a very brief period; Rye and Corn are also lower. Instead of advancing as the war progressed, as generally expected, prices are weak and declining, and this too right in the face of reported Prussian reverses, which is generally understood to mean a prolongation of the conflict. The situation at the present time, is by no means encouraging for those who bought grain and flour when the war first commenced to hold for higher prices, as it seems that the longer they hold the worse it is. There may possibly be a reaction soon, but the indications are not encouraging. The grocery trade has been dull during the past week, and in sympathy with the decline in gold, Coffee and Refined Sugars are lower. All kinds of fruits and vegetables are abundant and declining—apples have drooped $1.00@1.50 per bbl within a few days. Provisions market is easier though without quotable change.

APPLES—Continue very dull, which is owing in part to the large receipts of Peaches. We now quote at $2.00@3.50 per bbl, for common to choice.

ASHES—Common soda ash, 4; refined, 4½; [illegible]

BROOM CORN—Continues dull though unchanged at 11@12 cts.

BUTTER—There is a continued steady demand for the better grades and prime to choice is still quoted at 28@30.

BEANS—Dull and nominal at $1.50@1.75 per bushel.

CARBON OIL—Standard brands are being sold in 25 and 30 barrel lots at 21 cts.

CHEESE—Is firmer but unchanged. Ohio Factory [illegible]; Goshen 16@16½. Schweitzer, [illegible]

CEMENT—Sales Louisville Hydraulic at [illegible], and Calcined Plaster at [illegible] per bbl.

CORN MEAL—Is being sold in small lots in store at [illegible] per bushel.

DRIED FRUIT—Sales of prime bright apples at [illegible]. Peaches at [illegible] for quarters, and [illegible] for halves. Stock light and demand only moderate.

EGGS—There is an improved demand for fresh eggs, and we can report sales at 17@18. Old stock dull as ever and hard to sell at any price.

FRUITS—Blackberries, $4 per bushel; Plums, $5; Peaches, [illegible] per box. Grapes, [illegible] cts per lb.

FEATHERS—Dull but unchanged; live goose feathers may be quoted at [illegible] cts to the trade, and [illegible] in small lots.

FLOUR—There is nothing new to be said in regard to flour; the market is dull and weak, though there is not much change in prices. Western flours are quoted at [illegible] for fair to good, and [illegible] for choice. Rye flour, [illegible]

GROCERIES—Market quiet and unchanged—an improved demand for Sugars is expected within next week or two. Raw Sugars, 9½@[illegible]; Crushed, 14½; A Coffee, 13¾; B, 13½; Ex. C, [illegible]; C, 12½. New Orleans Molasses, 85. Syrups dull. Coffee steady at 20@22, for common to choice Rio.

GRAIN—Wheat is arriving pretty freely, and while the market is dull and weak there is no quotable change in prices, $1.25@1.30 for fair to prime red, and [illegible] for white. Oats unsettled and prices irregular: we are cognizant of dealers buying in first hands and furnishing sacks at [illegible], delivered here. Old oats, on spot, may may be quoted [illegible], but for future delivery there are no buyers above [illegible]. Shelled corn is dull and the offerings seem to be increasing; we now quote at [illegible], in first hands, and [illegible], on wharf and track—sale 2 cars on private terms. Sales of new rye in first hands at [illegible]—old is still quoted at [illegible], and there is very little of the latter in this market. No established price for Barley, as yet, it is probable that brewers and maltsters will commence buying next month.

HAY—Sold from country wagons in Allegheny to-day at [illegible] per ton. Prime baled, on wharf, [illegible]

HOPS—Sales at [illegible] cts.

LIME—Sales of Cleveland at [illegible] per bbl, and eastern at $1.75.

LARD OIL—City brands, at [illegible], for No. 1 and [illegible] No. 2. Well established western brands are quoted at $1.25 for No. 1.

LIVE POULTRY—Sales half grown chickens at [illegible], and full grown at [illegible] by the coop. Ducks [illegible] per pair.

PROVISIONS—Without quotable change, but steady. Plain Shoulders, 14¾@15; Sugar Cured Shoulders, [illegible]; Short Ribbed Sides, 17½@18; Clear Sides, 18½; Sugar Cured Hams [illegible]. Dried Beef 23. Lard, 17½ in tcs, and [illegible], in buckets. Mess Pork, [illegible]

POTATOES—Dull at [illegible] per bbl. Jersey Sweets [illegible] per bbl.

MELONS—Sales of water melons at $15@25 per 100, according to size and condition.

SALT—Allegheny River brands may be quoted at $1.60 by the car load and $1.70@1.75 for small lots in store.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is quoted at $2.15@2.18, and very little offering.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, August 19, 1870.

The oil market continues unsettled and very sensitive, fluctuating almost every hour in the day in sympathy with the war telegrams. Reports of French successes are a sure precursor of a decline in oil, while, on the other hand, Prussian victories are always followed by an advance. The feeling was considerably stronger this afternoon under the influence of of news considered favorable to the Prussians, but there is little or nothing doing in consequence of an utter want of confidence, nor is it likely that there will be any material or substantial improvement until the market assumes a more healthy and tangible shape. Aside from the war, the rapid and steady increase in the production is regarded as the most important feature in the trade at the present time, and it is now conceded that the yield is much larger than it has been for several years, if not in the history of the trade, and what is the more remarkable is that the increase has occurred at a time when there was less inducement to stimulate development, and if we are correctly informed, there are fewer wells being put down than at any time for two years or more. Furthermore, many of the new wells are producing more largely than the old ones; recently, we have heard of several 100 and from up to 300 bbls., and on Thursday the report of one producing 1,000 bbls "capped the climax;" it is but proper to note, however, that this last report has not been confirmed.

The following statistics in regard to the production and stocks of petroleum, each month, for the past three years, may not be uninteresting at this time. It is made up from the monthly reports of the Titusville Herald:

RIVER NEWS.

River falling steadily with 3 feet 2 inches in the channel. Weather cloudy and warm with indications of rain.

No arrivals or departures excepting the packets.

The tow boat Venture arrived from Portsmouth with a tow of metal.

Wm. Clark's new towboat is still lying above the Monongahela bridge; she will be completed as rapidly as possible.

Capt. W. S. Evans, of Evans, Dallas & Gilmore, has returned from Connellsville, where he was for some weeks rusticating.

Capt. Dan Moore was in Cincinnati on Wednesday.

—We clip the following from the Cincinnati Commercial of Thursday: Capt. Henry U. Hart, late of the Kenton, yesterday bought the interest of Capt. Jas. Ranson, 3-16ths, in the John H. Groesbeck, reported at the rate of $25,000 for the entire boat. Capt. Hart will assume command of the Groesbeck in the N. O. trade on the opening of the fall season. Capt. Ransom bought of Capt. Hart the machinery of the Guidon for $1,700, for which he intends contracting for a boat for a Northern tributary trade at once.

—The Evansville, Journal, of Tuesday, says: Commodore Dexter yesterday turned over the command of the City of Evansville to Captain Jack Grammer, and transferred his broad pennant to the famous Quickstep, which he will take to Mound City in a day or two and superintend her repairs which will be thorough.

—Says the Cincinnati Commercial: A sad disaster has befallen the family of Mr Coates, mate of the Richmond. The public will feel the deepest sympathy for the family under this distressing calamity. Several of his children and his wife have been bitten by a mad dog. One of the children died of hydrophobia.

—The Columbia, owned by Dr. Wm. Gunton, President of the Bank of Washington, has been running between Washington and Baltimore over fifty years, and ought to be old enough to vote. Capt. Jas. Harper has commanded the Columbia for 30 years.

—A distressing accident occurred on the Mollie McPike, Monday night, just below Rock Island. One of her cylinder-heads was blown out, severely scalding the engineer and badly injuring three other persons.

—A Memphis dispatch says: The steamers Church and Wicks were sold at auction to-day, and were purchased by Capt. C. B. Church at $22,000 for the Church and $23,000 for the Wicks.

—Capt. J. T. Webb, of the Government improvement steamer Montana, while at work on a bar a few miles below St. Paul, had his leg terribly crushed on Saturday by the recoil of a cable.

—Mr. Levi T. Dix, a well known Cincinnati and St. Louis pilot, has gone in partnership with Mr. Merisham, of Newport, Ky., in the medicine business.

—The San Francisco press are advocating the reduction of wharfage and dockage. The reduction of wharfage should be agitated everywhere.

—Major Sam. P. Armstrong is negotiating for the purchase of an additional one-eighth interest in the Armadillo from Capt. A. Byers.

—A large amount of annuity goods and Government stores remain at Sioux City, awaiting transportation to various up river depots.

—The Camelia was to have left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Thursday.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

DOCTOR WHITTIER CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL PRIVATE DISEASES. That numerous class of cases resulting from self-abuse, producing unmanliness, nervous debility, irritability, eruptions, seminal emissions, and finally impotency permanently cured. Persons afflicted with delicate, intricate and long standing constitutional complaints are politely invited to call for consultation, which costs nothing. Experience, the best of teachers, has enabled him to perfect remedies at once efficient, safe, permanent, and which in most cases can be used without hindrance to business. Medicines prepared in the establishment, which embraces office, reception and waiting rooms; also boarding and sleeping apartments for patients requiring daily personal attention, and vapor and chemical baths, thus concentrating the famed mineral springs. No matter who have failed, state your case. Read what he says in his pamphlet of fifty pages, sent to any address for two stamps in sealed envelope. Thousands of cases treated annually, at office and all over the country. Consultation free, personally or by mail. Office No. 9 Wylie street, (near Court House) Pittsburgh Pa. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Pamphlet sent to any address for TWO STAMPS. ap2

The greater part of the road is already completed, and the earnings from the finished portion are already more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and interest on the bonds. The balance of the work is progressing rapidly, in time for the movement of the coming grain crops, which, it is estimated will double the present income of the road. The established character of this line, running as it does through the heart of the most thickly settled and richest portion of the great State of Iowa, together with its present advanced condition and large earnings, warrant us in unhesitatingly recommending these bonds to investors as, in every respect, an undoubted security.
These bonds have 50 years to run, are convertible at the option of the holder into the stock of the Company at par, and the payment of the principal is provided for by a sinking fund. The convertibility privilege attached to these bonds cannot fail to cause them at no distant day to command a market price considerably above par, besides paying about 9 per cent. currency, interest in the meanwhile. U. S. Five-twenties at present prices only return 5 per cent., and we regard the security equally safe.

Albums, 75 cents.—You will find a large variety of 50 picture albums, Morocco bound, worth double the money, in Evans' 75 cent department, 50 Fifth avenue.

From the advertisement of the Messrs. Smith, in another column, it will be seen that they intend the "American Organ" shall be acknowledged as the standard of excellence.

A Roman Catholic Church is to be erected upon the lot corner of Webster and Ohio streets, Allegheny. Workmen are now engaged there excavating for the foundation of the new structure.

The Pittsburgh Real Estate Register should be in the hands of all persons interested in real estate, yet it will cost you nothing. Croft & Phillips, Real Estate Agents, opposite the Postoffice, publish it.

Gross-Salmon.—Deputy Mayor Nichols yesterday committed to jail for a period of ten days, a man named B. Salmon, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct, preferred by Frederick Gross and J. B. Wright.

The population of the Third ward, Allegheny city, is 12,558. In 1860 it was [illegible], showing an increase of nearly 50 per cent. Many cities in this State and the West, with high pretensions, cannot boast a population equal to this one ward.

Only Six Months.—Freddy and William Diehl, well known vagrants, were committed yesterday by Mayor Callow to the work house on the charge of vagrancy, the former on his own confession. The term of imprisonment is only six months.

Sent Back.—Mayor Callow yesterday sent back to jail for a period of ten days, Mag Duffey, on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduc. She had only been discharged from thirty days' service, and could not stand the pressure.

Called Her Hard Names.—Catharine McKeown was before Alderman Koenig, yesterday, and charged Mary Roney with surety of the peace, having threatened her, and added insult to injury by calling her hard names. Warrant issued.

The immense circulation of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Register makes it one of the best advertising mediums published. Get and examine the Register if you would be posted as to the most desirable property in the market. Croft & Phillips publishes it for free distribution.

Passenger Car Upset.—One of the Pleasant Valley Railway cars met with an accident yesterday on Ohio avenue. By some means it ran off the track and upset. Two ladies were inside at the time, who were worse scared than hurt. The accident occasioned a little delay.

That stock.—It would require a great deal of space to record all that Megraw, No. 45 Ninth street, has in store for the accommodation and delight of smokers. It may all however be summed up in the statement that nothing known to the trade or that can be desired by the lover of the weed cannot be found at No. 45, and purchasers whether wholesale or retail, cannot find a better place to invest their money.

Preserving Fruit.—Now that housewives are preserving fruit for the winter, it becomes a matter of interest to know where to obtain fruit jars which will not fail to keep that which is put into them pure and fresh. Such are the fruit jars sold at No. 323 Liberty street, the warehouse of the Keystone Pottery. Messrs. Kier & Co. have a very large assortment on hand, all sizes, and those who are putting up fruit should drop in at 323 and get a supply of their jars.

Ferocious Dog.—Officer Gabby of Alderman Mullin's police force, arrested a man named Vreika, on a charge of keeping a ferocious dog. The defendant is a peddler, and was passing along Chestnut street, his dog accompanying him, when it is alleged by the prosecutor, David Buckhart, that defendant's dog bit his (Buckhart's) little son on the hand, inflicting painful scratches. An information was made against Vreika for keeping a ferocious dog. There will be a hearing in the case to-day.

Trying to Part Man and Wife.—The idea of parting a man from his wife is a very heinous crime, and yet the world is full of persons who don't hesitate to use every art in their power to accomplish this object. Mrs. Julia Stanley charges Patrick McCormac and Catharine, his wife, with doing this self same thing. The prosecutor also charges the same parties with surety of the peace and disorderly conduct. Alderman Moreland yesterday issued a warrant and arrested the parties on the above charges. Held for a hearing.

Before Alderman Boister.—A warrant was issued yesterday, by Alderman Boister, Allegheny, for the arrest of Michael Straub, for surety of the peace. Jacob Siegrist, a school teacher residing in Ross township is the prosecutor. The defendants property adjoins the school building, and if we understand the difficulty aright, a quarrel arose as to the right of prosecutor to take water from his (Straubs) spring. Straub came to the school house yesterday, and used abusive language, and is alleged, threatened to do Siegrist bodily harm. Hence the suit.

Still Missing.—The missing young woman, Eliza Green, has not yet been found. Yesterday parties engaged in the search procured a cannon and fired it off in the neighborhood of the "Point" in the hope of bringing the body to the surface of the water—they were acting upon the supposition that she had drowned herself. Their efforts were not successful.

—Late last night a report was brought to the lock-up that the body of Miss Green was found floating in the river at Sewickley, and had been drawn ashore, where it awaited the action of the Coroner.

Repairing.

The old floor on the Suspension Bridge is to be replaced with a new one. The Bridge will be closed to vehicle travel for ten days to allow the work to be done. It will be commenced Monday morning. Pedestrians can cross as usual.

The cars of the Manchester Passenger Railway will stop at the Allegheny side. Last night workmen were engaged in making a switch at that place for the cars to turn off.

A Frisky Creature.

Major Burnell has a set of frisky creatures in his Museum on Fifth avenue. One of the gentle animals is a baboon. Yesterday it became tired of show life and started out on its travels—by some means escaping from its cage. The first point of interest was the apartment occupied temporarily by the First National Bank under Masonic Hall and next door to the Museum. The baboon walked in there and created more of a flutter than if gold had fallen ten per cent. It played with greenbacks and jingled the coin and somewhat frightened the clerks, who had no wish to make its acquaintance. After making a tour of the place, it was at length secured by Major Burnell and restored to its original quarters, apparently happy with its journey, and loth to be deprived of its freedom.

Narrow Escape.

We were informed yesterday of a very narrow escape, from almost instant death, of a little girl aged about five years, daughter of a woman named Mrs. Friend. They were in the room occupied by the Board of Directors of the Poor of Allegheny city, in the third story of the city building, awaiting the return of Mr. McGonnigle, Clerk of the Board. The windows in this room reach the floor. The little girl was playing around, unnoticed by her mother, who was busily engaged talking to another woman, when all of a sudden her attention was attracted by the shrill cry of her little girl, who had been looking out of the window and lost her balance. Fortunately the mother was just close enough to catch her by the limbs and save her from a fall, which is frightful to contemplate. The distance is not less than forty feet, and nothing but miraculous power could have saved her from instant death had she fallen.

[illegible] of Friends.

A woman named Ellen Doney, came before Alderman Moreland a few days ago, and charged John Doney, her husband, with surety of the peace and disorderly conduct. John had been drinking, which unsettled his nerves, and made him a little boisterous. He was arrested, and a hearing in the case developed that John was an exceedingly industrious, and a peace-loving citizen, although there was no doubt about him behaving badly in this instance, his friends succeeded in getting the case settled. Matters passed on very quietly for a day or two. John came home and found his wife Ellen in liquor. This state of facts set him to drinking again, and another scene of boisterousness ensued. He set to work breaking things generally around the house. Arrested again, and failing to procure bail he was on the road to jail, when his friends rallied to his rescue, and succeeded in having him released, giving bail for his appearance. The 'Squire sent for Mrs. Doney, and administered her a sharp reprimand, for her bad behaviour. The whole matter will doubtless be settled.

Burglars Foiled.

This morning about two o'clock a bold attempt to burglarize was frustrated by the police. Three burglars, passing through an alley leading from Sixth avenue, gained access to the rear of John L. Dawes' painting establishment, and thence through a window into the house. They were supplied with powder and a "kit" of burglars' tools, with which they succeeded in partially opening the outside door of the safe. They were at this stage apparently frightened off. Returning in about an hour, they were again observed by some person living in the vicinity, and the police called. The burglars disappeared, and the police, upon investigation, discovered how near successful had been the attempt. Dawes' establishment is located 153 Wood street, and extends back parallel with Sixth avenue.

About 3 o'clock the officers arrested Samuel Bennet, "Pat" Shea and James Jackson, three well known characters, on suspicion of being the guilty parties. They had been observed loafing about the neighborhood during the previous evening. They were locked up for a hearing this morning.

THE SECOND GAME.

Base Ball Yesterday—The Allegheny vs. Atlantic—The former Position Reversed—A Close Game—The Allegheny Victorious—The Score.

The second game between the Allegheny and Atlantic Base Ball clubs came off at Union Park yesterday afternoon. The result was in favor of the Allegheny who retrieved their reputation as a first-class club, by coming off victors in one of the most exciting and closely contested games of the season. The score attests the fine play, and how the runs were made.

The attendance upon the grounds was quite large—several hundred persons—a fair proportion of whom were ladies, gracing the Park with their presence. As this was the secon[illegible] game of the series—the first resulting in f[illegible] of the Atlantics—it attracted great att[illegible] in [illegible]. Each club went in [illegible] [illegible] Atlantics anxious [illegible]

Game [illegible] about half-past [illegible] o'clock. Mr. J. W[illegible], of the Tyrolean Club, Harrisburg, having been chosen as umpire. The Atlantics lost the toss and [illegible] first to the bat. They were disposed of with a "whitewash." The Alleghenys, as an offset to this, made a good start by scoring two runs. The next innings both clubs retired without a run. The excitement by this time began to rise, and the players were cheered lustily when a good play was made. The succeeding innings were marked by some of the best fielding ever seen in these parts. In this respect, the game was especially noticeable. Hardly a bad play was made anywhere throughout. At the bat, however, neither club seemed to be as much at home as on the former occasion. Most of the balls were knocked high or foul, and no player on any strike made more than his first base. In the field, Nevin of the Allegheny, made several beautiful fly catches—in that manner which marks him as one of the best in the country. Graham of the Allegheny, as short stop, also played better than usual—never making a "muff." McKnight's catching was of the usual order—unexcelled behind the bat.

Of the Atlantics, Drummond and Page played almost without a fault. Archibald, catcher, was very sure and quick. Hilliard, in centre field, was up to the business. In fact on either side the playing was such as makes a game interesting—quick, sure and close. Of the two pitchers, McCall is without doubt the best, judging by the game yesterday. He is as swift as Brosey, and generally more certain.

As will be seen by the score, the victory for the Allegheny was a clear one in every respect. They seemed to have the advantage throughout, although their opponents struggled gallantly. A third game will be played, however, and perhaps the scale may be turned. If it is not, the successful club will have to play well. In the meantime the Allegheny may congratulate themselves in having beaten a first club by the following score:

OBITUARY.

Resolutions on the Death of the Late Mr. J. P. Logan by the Duquesne Greys—Preparations for the Funeral To-morrow.

The death of Mr. John P. Logan has caused much profound sorrow in this community, and especially among the members of the Duquesne Greys, of which he was an active member, belonging to the first company. Last night a very large meeting of the members of the second company was held to take action on the announcement of the death. Captain J. B. Moore presided, and on opening the proceedings spoke feelingly and eloquently of the worth and excellence of the deceased, whom he had known as a brave soldier and accomplished gentleman. He stated inasmuch as only the first company had been ordered out, that it would be eminently meet and fitting should the members of the full battalion turn out with that company at the funeral on Sunday afternoon, and thus discharge a duty of burying a worthy comrade with becoming military honors.

Other gentlemen of the company paid tribute to the memory of the departed, after which a committee, consisting of Lt. J. F. Schroeder, Sergeant W. S. Wilt and Private Thos. H. Phelps, was appointed to prepare fitting resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting. They reported the following

RESOLUTIONS.

WHEREAS, It having pleased the Omnipotent and Eternal Commander of all to summon into His great presence the immortal soul of our late friend and comrade, John P. Logan, who passed away from earth to eternity on Thursday, August 18th, 1870; therefore be it Resolved, 1. That in his death, while bowing with humility to the will of Providence, we recognize that we have lost a noble friend, the Duquesne Greys a faithful and zealous member, and the general community an upright and worthy citizen.

2. That we deeply deplore the death of our comrade, whose generous nature and largeness of heart, combined with so much friendship and intelligence, made him while living well worthy our regard, respect and esteem, and now in death we hold dear his name and memory.

3. That we extend our heartfelt sympathies and words of consolation to the bereaved mother and brothers of our late friend, for we know that as son and brother he was dutiful and affectionate in the home circle.

4. That in token of our sorrow o'er his loss, and in order to honor the memory of our late comrade, we will keep our armory draped for the period of thirty days.

5. That we present a copy of these resolutions and preamble to the First Company of the Duquesne Greys of which our lamented comrade was an active member.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

The funeral promises to be very large and imposing. The military will be in charge of Col. David Campbell. The company forming at the armory on Fourth avenue will march over to the residence of the mother of the deceased, No. 30 Avery street, Allegheny.

THE CENSUS.

The Population of the Several Districts in the County as far as Returned.

The returns of the Assistants Marshals who are engaged in taking the census in Allegheny county, are being received by Marshal Murdock. The Assistant Marshals in rural districts have been prompt, but those engaged in the city districts have a very laborious undertaking, and consequently are slower in making their returns. Below we give a complete list of the returns received thus far:

PITTSBURGH.

The above embraces all the returns which have been received. Persons residing in any of the districts given who have not been enumerated by the assistants should report the fact immediately to Marshal Murdoch. It is desirable that the returns forwarded to Washington should be as nearly correct as possible. Our manufacturers also should be careful that the numerous industrial interests here are reported fully, so that our position as a manufacturing center can be fairly stated.

THE COLLISION.

Coroner's Inquest—The Injured—The Affair to be Further Investigated.

Yesterday morning Coroner Clawson went to McKeesport to hold an inquest upon the body of Michael Shean who died from injuries received in the collision which occurred on the Connellsville Railroad near McKeesport, Thursday afternoon. The particulars of the affair were given in the GAZETTE yesterday morning.

After empanneling a jury, one witness, Dr. Hoffman, was examined. He had made an examination, and testified that Shean's skull had been fractured and his left arm broken in two places. The immediate cause of his death, however, in the opinion of the physician, was concussion of the brain, caused by the shock.

No other witnesses being present, the inquest was adjourned until this afternoon at three o'clock.

There were three other persons injured by the collision. A little daughter of William George was standing by the box car, when it turned over and caught her left arm, which was so badly crushed that it had to be amputated.

Peter Wood, a passenger, was also severely injured. His brother, John Wood, was slightly cut and bruised.

The whole matter will be investigated to-day.

One from O'Donnell.

Alderman O'Donnell, of the Ninth ward, had a curious case of assault and battery before him yesterday, which occasioned him considerrble perplexity of mind. The circumstances are thus told: Mrs. Bridget Meloy rents a house on an alley in the rear of Pike street, near Thirteenth street. She sublets the cellar kitchen to a man named Thomas Kiley. Owing to the fact that the only outlet to the yard, is though the cellar kitchen, Mrs. Meloy, like a correct business woman conditions in her sub-lease to Thomas Kiley that she be allowed to pass through said cellar kitchen, when it is necessary for her to do so. Why Thomas subscribed to the conditions in the first place we cannot understand. At any rate trouble arose about the exercise of this privilege. Mr. Kiley refused to allow Mrs. Meloy the privilege of going through his appartment at all times. Mrs. Meloy insisted unto the death, and the matter culminated a few days ago. Mrs. M. did pass through, but Mr. K. blocked her return, and it was only after a scuffle she got back to her apartment. This is the ground of the assault and battery. His Honor is in a quandary as to what would be the proper course for him to pursue in the premises. He has reserved his opinion until he consults his legal adviser.

A JOKER JAILED.

The Charge Against Him—His Facetiousness and Subsequent Grief—How He Was Managed—A Shrewd Operation.

Deputy Mayor Nichols displayed his detective abilities in a favorable light by a little operation, which was ended yesterday. Some weeks ago it appears an information was made before him by Catharine Welty against John McCarty, for seduction under promise of marriage. The parties resided in the Seventeenth ward. Catharine is a young girl seventeen years of age, and alleges the crime was committed on the 20th of last January. Subsequent[illegible] John refused to make good his promise [illegible] every other method of no avail [illegible] were at last instituted.

[illegible] the information was made John [illegible] City, employed there. The [illegible] having been brought against [illegible] in a city paper. This came [illegible] notice. He was facetious over it, [illegible] sarcastic too. Clipping the para[graph] from the paper, he enclosed it in a note [with] his compliments to the magistrate, accompanied with an invitation to "come to Venango and catch me if you can." The bearer of the message in delivering it was "pumped" or drawn out, when he divulged the fact that John intended going to Kansas, and would be through the city about the 19th of the month. The Deputy Mayor cherished this information, and quietly dispatched Officers Berger and Stetts to Allegheny Junction to intercept the seven-o'clock train yesterday morning. He did this for fear that John might get off at the Junction and come into the city on the West Penn Railroad. His strategy was successful. The train stopped and was boarded by the officers who at once put the nippers on the man and brought him to the city. He had a hearing yesterday afternoon before the Deputy Mayor, when the girl testified to the allegations made in the information. Another witness testified that the two often met at her home. The magistrate, after hearing the evidence, concluded to curtail the facetious John's opportunity for further joking for a time at least, and accordingly committed him for trial in default of bail in the sum of $1500.

The case was well managed, and the official who did it deserves credit for his energy and skill.

THAT ALLEGED FORGERY.

The Excitement not Abated—The Talk About Town—Rumors Yesterday—The Hearing To-day.

The alleged forgery or defalcation of the late Treasurer of the German church on Smithfield street still forms the subject of excited discussion in German circles. The merchant charged with the serious crime is Mr. Otto Hartung, the Smithfield street druggist. He is now in jail, awaiting a hearing, which will come off to-day at the office of Alderman Floyd.

Yesterday there was a wild rumor afloat that he had attempted to commit suicide by taking poison, but like some other statements going the rounds, when investigated, there proved to be no truth in it. The fact was that Mr. Hartung was attacked with inflammation of the bowels, a disease to which he has been subject, at intervals, for several years. The excitement consequent upon his arrest, brought on an attack which was quite severe. Drs. Venn and Gallaher were called in, and this circumstance led to the rumor of suicide. Last evening the patient was better and in a fair way of recovery.

Nothing further in regard to the alleged forgery or defalcation has yet been made known, although there are many mysterious hints thrown out, which would lead to the supposition that the amount is greater than was at first developed. In view of the fact, however, that Mr. Hartung heretofore bore an unblemished reputation, and that he has not yet been heard in his own defence, it is but just that no opinion be formed until after the affair has been officially and thoroughly investigated. It will be sifted at the hearing to-day and then what is fact and what is rumor will be known.

Neighborhood Jottings.

Very few are aware how many large manufacturing establishments are located at the different towns along the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad. Beginning at Rochester, we might begin at Sewickly and take in Baden, Economy, then New Brighton, for many years a manufacturing point because of its excellent water power. Crossing Beaver river is the young, vigorous and sprightly town of Beaver Falls, where indications promise large manufacturing interests. Further on is Columbiana, then Salem, where several large establishments are in operation, manufacturing mowers and reapers, engines and machinery of different kinds, stove works, and smaller establishments.

The town of Salem is quite a progressive place, and has felt the impress of the Quaker element, and most of the people are of the better sort, refined and moral. The old style of doing business, that is of keeping in the stores different kinds of goods, dry goods, groceries, drugs, &c., in country stores, does not exist here, but each is a separate business, like the custom of cities. Among the business houses is Baird & Triern, hardware merchants, a very extensive and worthy house. The senior partner is a son of Rev. Dr. I. N. Baird, formerly editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate, who also resides there with his family. The Doctor has been in feeble health for a year, but for some months he has been gradually getting robust, and expects at the next session of the Pittsburgh Conference to take an appointment, if not before then. For a while he edited the Salem Journal in the interest of temperance. The numerous friends hereabouts of the Doctor will be glad to hear that he will soon be in the active ministry again.

Passing still further on to Alliance, manufacturing assumes a larger scale, and is likely to increase rapidly. A visit among them would surprise many of the denizens of our city. Let any one take a run out, and stop at the "Sourbeck House," and enjoy the comforts of that capital hotel, and examine for themselves the interests of that growing city. Mr. Sourbeck, and Mr. Matt. Robinson will post up the visitors where to go.

Up the Rivers.

Uniontown is to have a new school house for colored children. The contract for the building has been let for $1,880 and the work has commenced.

Fayette county has more grasshoppers than the people desire. A farmer last week near Uniontown, in plowing, covered them over in the furrows in some places two and three inches deep.

There is some talk in Connellsville of organizing a company and erecting a gas works.

The Methodist Episcopal Church of Connellsville will hold its quarterly meeting to-morrow. Rev. R. L. Miller, Presiding Elder of the District, will conduct the services. The occasion is one of great interest to the members of that religious denomination in the vicinity.

The local excitement about Brownsville just now is a camp meeting which is to be held at Bentleysville, a few miles off, in about a week.

Uniontown has the base ball fever very high. A colored club has been organized, and the impressible conflict between it and the champion Democratic organization is daily looked for.

Ayer's Latin School.

This school is designed to give boys a thorough drill in the common English branches, and to such as may desire, in the rudiments of the Greek and Latin languages, so far as is essential to fit them to enter any of our best colleges. Particular attention will be given to younger pupils wishing to pursue a thorough course of study from the beginning.

Professor Ayers will be assisted by gentleman of known ability and success as instructors.

As to terms, references, etc., see advertisement in another column.

Troubles Increase—Again Wanted.

Our readers will remember the little trip to Cleveland taken by Officer Dressier, and his subseqent return with one Ludwig Bayer, who was charged with certain financial irregularities, generally known as forgeries. At the time Bayer was released on bail for his appearance at court. Yesterday he again became the object of interest to the police. Mrs. Margaret Lang appeared before Mayor Brush and made information against him for perjury. She alleges he forged her name to two notes, respectively for $275 and $150. Ludwig is wanted at the Mayor's office to explain. He will be brought there as soon as the police find him.

Personal.

FELIX R. BRUNOT, ESQ., left Thursday afternoon for Omaha, Neb., to attend to his duties as Civil Commissioner among the Indians. He expects to visit Forts Fetterman and Larimee and may go further North.

Always Open.—The attractive saloon of J. B. Youngson, corner of Smithfield street and Diamond alley, is always open from six in the morning until midnight for the accommodation of patrons. Everything known in the confectionery line may be had there. Ladies and gentlemen, at any time, can drop in and have a lunch set before them immediately. It is one of the most convenient as it is one of the best saloons in the city.

Have you examined the 25 cent department at Evans', 50 Fifth avenue? He has a little of everything there—hair oils, ties, bows, collars, &c.; also a quire of initial note paper, with envelopes to match, in a neat box, all for 25 cents.

Nothing meets the wants of persons desiring to invest in real estate so well as the Real Estate Register, published by Croft & Phillips, opposite the Postoffice.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

A Little Girl Probably Fatally Injured.

It does really seem as if it was out of the order of things for some persons to learn a little sense. One would suppose that the frequent recurrence of accidents resulting from an improper use of carbon oil would prove a lesson to old and young, to be a little careful, how they handled this explosive fluid. It is scarcely three weeks since a little girl was frightfully burned and died, in the Sixth ward, Allegheny, from causes entirely similar to those we are going to relate:

The circumstances are about as follows: A little girl named Tillie Drake, living with a saloon keeper named Charles Debarr, on Seventeenth street, East Birmingham, about half past nine o'clock yesterday morning, was sent by Mrs. Debarr to kindle a fire in a stove in the back part of the building. Tillie had frequently kindled the fire before, and Mrs. D. thinking that everything would be right, never troubled herself, and proceeded to the street, where the hydrant was located, for water.

While outside, she heard a loud report, but the thought never came to her mind that any accident was likely to happen Tillie, until she heard the little girl's screams, who presently came running to the front street all cove[red] with flames. A man close by doused a buc[ket] of water on the burning girl. She immedi[ately] fell to the ground, but the flames wer[e] extinguished. She was carried into the h[ouse], and was only able to state, incoherently, how she had poured the oil on the new fire to facilitate its burning, when the flames sh[ot up]ward, followed the oil into the can, and exploded it, scattering the oil all over her in the condition we have stated.

Doctor McDowell was called in and was rendering all the aid possible to relieve the little sufferer. He considers her in a critical condition, with little hopes of recovery.

After the explosion the house was filled with smoke and had the appearance of being on fire. An alarm was given and the engines repaired to the scene of the alarm, but their services were not needed.

FROM THE MOUNTAINS.

Comfortable Places—Fayette Springs—The Progress of Work on the Pittsburgh & Connellsville Railroad.

[Correspondence of Pittsburgh Gazette.]

SOMERSET CO., PA., August 15, 1870.

Desiring recreation, I have come into the mountains of Somerset county, where, undisturbed, I might seek relaxation in study, ramble, hunting, fishing, or general recreation. I have found both health and wealth in these pleasant mountain retreats. Escaping from the intense heat of the city, a few weeks since, I have found here comfort beneath a double pair of blankets. The weather has been the most delightful, except last evening, and this morning, when a heavy overcoat and good fire contributed wonderfully to external comfort.

I have found the mountains nearer Pittsburgh, in the neighborhood of Fayette Springs, filled with escaped denizens of the torrid city. I fear the entertainment and accommodations, are not as extensive or comfortable as Saratoga.

The buildings at the Springs proper, were burned some years since. The accommodations now, are chiefly at Brinton's and a neighboring farm house. I tried to get quarters at B's. but could not. I came twenty-five miles further east, and secured most comfortable accommodations. I escaped from the crowded heated hotels on the Sea Shore, as I had a day in B—— I came here. The change was most refreshing. Accommodations are excellent. We have all the delicacies of the season, belonging to this region. Berries, fruits, vegetables, young chickens, real cream and glades butter, pure milk and faultless honey, make up our daily bill of fare. These, with fine invigorating mountain air, water of crystal purity, walks, drives, etc., and our situation, one may be led to suppose, is not one of decided discomfort. But this is not a "summer boarding house,"—it is the home of a generous friend, whose hospitality I am enjoying.

Why is it there is no good summer house on the mountains? Fayette Springs, with the many disadvantages, were generally crowded. It is hoped, with the extension of the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad, a suitable summer resort will be opened. Let some enterprising capitalists look to it.

I have been along the Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad several miles of the line under construction. The work, generally, is being rapidly pushed to completion and will, from present appearances, be ready for travel by February 1st, 1871. This will be gratifying news to friends of this long delayed improvement. It certainly is in the highest degree creditable to those having the work in hand. The President, Chief Engineer and officers charged with the work of extension certainly deserve credit for the energy displayed in pushing forth this road. The Connellsville road, alone the place named, had to most persons become a myth, and the Sand Patch tunnel had long since passed into antiquity. But a change has been wrought, and let any one pass along the line, as I have done, and they will be surprised, as I have been, at the vast amount of work done, and the little comparatively to be done before the train thunders through mountain depth and beneath rock-ribbed barriers. Onward, from the Upper Ohio to the Upper Potomac! Success to the enterprise. I repeat, the road will surely be in running order by February. Most of the heavy work is under fair progress. Brook tunnel is through and worked with heavy forces day and night. The contractors, Messrs. Hoblitzebls, inform me they are determined to have this work done without fail. Again, I say success to this fair route, which most become one of the great competing lines from east to west.

PHOCION.

POTTOWATOMIE CITY, Kansas, claims the largest percentage of increase yet developed under the census of 1870: The population of "the city" in June, 1860, consisted of the proprietor, Josephus Elsegood. In the fall of 1860, he got married, and the population of "the city," now consists of Elsegood, his wife and eight children—ten in all—an increase of nine hundred per cent.

A NEW YORK tailor was startled the other day, by the return of a bill which he had sent to a magazine editor, with a notice that the "manuscript was respectfully declined."

The Uniontown Standard says: During a thunder storm on the 10th inst., the lightning struck the chimney of Capt. Hagan's store, prssed down the stove pipe and killed his son Lucien, about eighteen years of age, who was at the time resting his feet on the stove hearth.

AS AN inducement for immigrants of the feminine gender, we suppose, a letter writer from Masontown, near Uniontown, says: "We have three widowers in this place, that we will put against any other three widowers west of the Alleghenies, for good looks, enterprise and gentility of manners."

A YOUTH named John Woolslayer was killed by lightning in Carroll township, Washington county, last week. He and another boy were running down hill at the top of their speed, when the flash came, resulting in instantaneous death for the one, who was taken away while the other was left.

THE Bedford Inquirer says: Very few horses eat Bologna sausage, but we saw one of John A. Cessna's horses the other day standing in front of Jno. O. Smith's Confectionery with a bit in his mouth. Is Bedford so far out of the world as to be accustomed to drive horses without bits in their mouths?

THE Chester Valley Union says that James Waterson struck Geo. W. Woollaston on the temple with his fist with such force as to cause his death in three minutes. Woollaston had worked for Waterson to amount of fifty cents, which had been paid, but was demanded again, when a quarrel led to hard words, and put Waterson in the Chester County jail for murder.

THE Brookville Republican says: Yesterday, Tuesday, the 16th inst., a terrible accident happened in the mill of Mr. Andrew Butler, of Pine Creek township, by which that gentleman was instantly killed. It appears that he was engaged in the mill, and about two o'clock in the afternoon, while clearing away sawdust and rubbish from the saw, the saw caught his arm cutting it fearfully, and at the same time, striking his head and severing it almost, the other arm being also badly mangled. Mr. Butler was an industrious and good citizen, and the whole community will be appalled to learn of his terrible death. He leaves a wife and five small children.

THE Wilkesbarre Record says: A fire damp explosion took place at Olyphant, in Eddy Creek shaft, on Monday evening of last week, burning five men so fearfully that two have since died. It was late in the evening when the accident occurred, and but six men were in the mines at the time. Three were at a distance and escaped harm. Edward Hannick, John Carry and Richard Mason were more unfortunate, but were carried out by their three companions. John Pettigrew, the mining boss, and Henry Whitby, the mule boss, were notified of the accident and descended the mine in the hope of rescuing the mules. A second explosion occurred shortly after their descent, and Peter Ross and Henry Jones went to their assistance, finding them in a car badly burned and nearly unconscious. They were taken out and conveyed home. Pettigrew died about seven o'clock Tuesday evening, and Hannock lived about an hour longer. Whitby was not expected live at last accounts.

THE Uniontown Genius says: A student of Mercersburg College, who is spending vacation at his father's house in the mountain, took his gun and went into the woods a few days ago, for the purpose of hunting pheasants. He was sauntering along slowly, when he heard a strange noise, not far from the path along which he was walking. He went in the direction from whence it came, and discovered a large rattlesnake, in the act of charming a squirrel. The young man watched the performance for some time, which was suddenly brought to a close, by a large hawk which had been sitting on a tree over head, a quiet spectator of the whole scene. His hawkship darted down and seized the squirrel, and carried it in his talons to the tree on which he had been sitting. He says he never saw anything look more disappointed than the rattlesnake. The young man concluded his turn had come to take a hand in the performances, and by the discharge of the contents of one barrel of his gun, brought the hawk and squirrel to the ground, and with the contents of the other barrel, he killed the snake.

YESTERDAY afternoon vague rumors of a terrible affair at Walnut Creek reached us, but it was not until late last evening that anything definite was known here. The following are the facts: Louis Hartman (brother of Peter Hartman, the gunsmith, of Erie), a farmer about forty-five years of age, lived at Walnut Creek, about four and a half miles southeast of the city. He was a widower and had a daughter between thirteen and fourteen years old, but as large as most girls several years older.

Charles Gottleib Kraenger, a young man about twenty-two years of age, worked for Michael Knochel, a neighbor of Hartman's. It was more than suspected that Kraenger was on terms of criminal intimacy with Hartman's girl, and became the subject of neighborhood talk. On Sunday night Kraenger and the girl had been in the barn at nine o'clock and then went to the house. Her father was then in bed. Some of the neighbors came to the house to rout young Kraenger out, but were deceived by the girl as to his whereabouts, and while they were up stairs, she let him out from where he had been hiding behind the pantry door. Yesterday morning he was there at about half past seven o'clock and staid about the premises. That is all that is known until the girl's father, Louis Hartman, was discovered to be dead, on the porch, between 11 and 12 o'clock. The supposition, based upon subsequent facts, and given previous to the examination of the corpse by the surgeon, is that either Kraenger, or the girl at his request, had given Mr. Hartman a drink from a bottle furnished by Kraenger. The girl denies knowing anything of it. Kraenger offered to treat John Roemer and Joseph Hensler, from a bottle he had, and gave the bottle to Roemer. Hensler declined and told Roemer to hand the bottle back. He did so, and Kraenger spirted some of the contents at Hensler. It struck him on the right side of his face and a little fell on his breast. His right eye is burned out, and the place on his breast has the flesh burned to a crisp. The girl got a little on her dress, and it burned holes wherever it touched. The neighborhood was soon aroused, and one man named Schimpf drew a bead on Kraenger with his gun, but some woman prevented him from shooting.—Erie Dispatch, Monday.

THE ILLINOIS STATE PRESS ASSOCIATION held a meeting in Chicago a day or two ago. Among the business transacted was the adoption of the following self-protection resolution, which might very profitably be adopted in Pennsylvania.

Resolved, That to protect the fraternity as far as possible from imposition by irresponsible advertising agents, and other advertisers, it shall be the duty of each member of this association to report the names of all such irresponsible advertisers of which they shall have knowledge to the Secretary, who shall issue a quarterly circular containing such names to each member of the Press Association with such other information relating to advertising as he may think proper.

SOUND LOGIC FOR THE SICK.

The invalid has often good reasons to exclaim, "save me from my friends." As a general thing, each of them will have a different medicire to propose, and if he follows all their prescriptions in turn, their well-meant advice may be the death of him. SPECIAL NOTICES.

☞ NOTICE OF ASSESSMENT.—At a called meeting of the stockholders of the Cherry Run and Pittsburgh Petroleum Company, of Pittsburgh, held at their office, No. 59 Fourth avenue, Pittsburgh, June 20, 1870, an act of assembly to enlarge the corporate powers of said company, approved May 3, 1870, was unanimously accepted.

In pursuance of the provisions of said act the Board of Directors have levied an assessment of (6) six cents per share on the capital stock, to be paid to the Treasurer prior to August 31, 1870. A credit of (3) three cents per share will be allowed to all who paid on the former assessment. The proceeds of this assessment are to be applied to the payments of debts due by the company. Under authority of the act before noted, all stock on which the assessment may remain unpaid, will be forfeited and sold at public auction. It will, therefore, be to the advantage of the stockholders to pay the assessment and thereby retain their interest in the property.

JACOB GLOSSER,
Secretary and Treasurer.

These Bonds are secured by FIRST MORTGAGE upon Road, Equipment and present revenue.

The Road forms part of the shortest East and West through line from the Ohio River to tide-water.

It has already an enormously large local traffic, and promise of rapid and steady increase.

No Pittsburgh Line has command of Territory so rich in materials for profitable railway traffic.

It connects Pittsburgh and Baltimore—two of the most important Cities of the Union.

The road is now earning the interest.

It will be completed in January and ought to command the aid and influence of the citizens of Pittsburgh.

PROPOSALS.

NOTICE

TO CONTRACTORS

FOR

Wood Pavement.

SEALED PROPOSALS

Will be received by the Commissioners of Penn avenue until AUGUST 20, 1870, for Paving with Wood Pavement that portion of Penn avenue, from St. Marys avenue to the city line, about three and a half miles in length and thirty-six (36) feet in width—a portion (about half a mile) being sixty (60) feet in width.

Proposals will state the kind of Pavement with full description, and must be accompanied by a model showing its construction. Also, describe fully all the materials used, all of which must be of the best quality.

The Contractor will be required to furnish the gravel foundation four inches in depth of good gravel.

The Wood used will be required to be effectually preserved by saturation with some compound containing sufficient carbolic acid. Specimens of the Wood, preserved by the proposed process must accompany the bids; also, a statement of the quantity per day that can be treated.

Proposals for the Pavement, with the preservative treatment, and for the preservation, will be received separately or together.

The prices named in the proposals must include all royalties or patentees charges, and the Contractor will be required to furnish a sufficient bond of indemnity to guarantee the City of Pittsburgh against any and all claims for such patent charges.

Payment will be made in monthly estimates, in cash or bonds, as may be agreed, twenty (20) per cent. of each estimate being retained until the contract is completed and the work accepted by the Commissioners.

Bidders will state what proportion, if any, of their pay will be received in Penn avenue bonds of the City of Pittsburgh, which are seven (7) per cent. bonds, free from taxation.

The Commissioners reserve the right to accept such bids as appear to be most advantageous, or to reject all bids. Proposals will be indorsed "To the Commissioners of Penn avenue," "Proposals for Paving," and addressed to Dr. J. I. MARCHAND, President, Wilkins Postoffice, Allegheny County, Pa.

By order of the Board of Commissioners.
